

Herald Tribune

Published with The New York Times and The Washington Post

Table with exchange rates for various countries including Austria, Belgium, Denmark, etc.

WEATHER-PARIS: Cloudy, calm. Temp. 44-61 (11-9). Tomorrow little change...

607

PARIS, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1971

Established 1887

S., Albanians ash in UN oneking, Taipei

By Anthony Astrachan

UNITED NATIONS, Oct. 18 (UPI).—Albania called the seating of the main issue of the China debate in the General Assembly to be an expansion of the "Chiang Kai-shek clique" inseparable and argued for both.

od Panel s 16 to 2 Celibacy

N CITY, Oct. 18 (UPI).—The Roman Catholic bishops under John Cardinal of Detroit voted today to reject the admitting married men to the priesthood.

sources said the committee of 12 working groups had a general swing toward the idea of ordaining married men.

the prelates on Cardinal's committee said the committee had voted to recommend a 16-to-2 margin.

Mr. Nese insisted that the assembly faces no question of the expulsion of a UN member, only "a simple question of the representation of a state that is already a member of the United Nations, a question which can be settled by a simple majority."

U.S. Ambassador George Bush called the existence of the Republic of China on Taiwan an "unthinkable fact."

anges With Motion Results of Flying Clocks Einstein Right Again

STON, Oct. 18 (UPI).—It is reported today that the results of an experiment with flying atomic clocks are in line with Einstein's theory.

clocks flown eastward around the world should lose about 100 billionths of a second compared with the master clock.

The preliminary results, according to Mr. Winkler, appear to confirm that the clocks did indeed lose on the eastward trip and gain on the westward flight.

Mr. Winkler said the exact course, speed, and altitude of the planes also must be cranked into the evaluation.

One consequence of Einstein's "clock paradox" would be that astronauts flying close to the earth would age less rapidly on their journeys among the stars than people on the slower-moving earth.

A roundtrip space flight of 32 earth years at such speed would age the astronauts only 4 years and nine months while those they left behind would have grown 32 years older.

anniversary by Bombings

URES, Oct. 18 (AP).—Sixty-class restaurants were blasted by day—the 26th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Nagasaki.

Ordered to take them to the Bahamas, Mr. Downs was in no mood to argue. But he needed more fuel. He radioed his needs to Jacksonville: Fuel, charts, flotation gear, and two bottles of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin struggles in an attempt to escape his attacker yesterday in Ottawa.

The Soviet premier is startled as the arms of his attacker begin to close in around his neck.

'Long Live Hungary!' Kosygin Is Assaulted, Not Harmed, in Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. 18 (UPI).—A man shouting "Long Live Hungary!" broke through police lines and attacked Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin today.

The assailant fixed an armlock around the Soviet leader's neck before being dragged off by guards. Mr. Kosygin was not hurt, but appeared shaken.

Mr. Kosygin, 57, was accompanied by Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau when the attack occurred. Mr. Trudeau was not harmed.

The assailant was thrown to the ground immediately by security personnel and taken into custody.

Pakistan, Indian Leaders Say They Want No War But Yahya Prepares to Retaliate

PARIS, Oct. 18 (Reuters).—President Mohammed Yahya Khan of Pakistan, said in an interview published here today that his country did not seek war with India, but would retaliate if attacked by Indian forces.

In an interview with the Paris newspaper Le Monde the Pakistani leader charged that India was threatening his country.

"We do not seek war with India, but if it attacks us, we shall retaliate," Gen. Yahya was quoted as saying by the newspaper's special correspondent in Karachi, Gerard Vitarello.

"India is threatening Pakistan," he added. "I spoke on this question just recently in Peshawar with (Soviet) President (Nikolai) Podgorny."

Mrs. Gandhi Taking 'Precautions'

NEW DELHI, Oct. 18 (UPI).—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi today told visiting Yugoslav President Tito that India does not want a war with Pakistan, official sources said.

The explosive situation along the Indo-Pakistan borders was among the subjects discussed during a two-hour meeting today.

Mrs. Gandhi explained to the Yugoslav leader that, since Pakistan had taken offensive steps, India had to take precautionary measures, the sources said.

Mrs. Gandhi said India had not initiated offensive moves against Pakistan. But when Pakistan moved its troops on India's eastern and western borders and launched a "crush India" campaign, New Delhi was left with no choice but to take steps to meet any attack.

A Hijacked Pilot's Pleas Are Ignored by the FBI—And the Pilot Dies

By George Lardner Jr.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (UPI).—When Brent Downs taxied his plane to a stop at Jacksonville International Airport this month, he was wondering nervously what the fuel tank was.

Mr. Downs, a 29-year-old pilot from Nashville, Tenn., had every reason to be nervous. His twin-engine Aero Commander had been commandeered in Nashville at gunpoint by a beasty hijacker who was kidnapping his estranged wife.

Ordered to take them to the Bahamas, Mr. Downs was in no mood to argue. But he needed more fuel. He radioed his needs to Jacksonville: Fuel, charts, flotation gear, and two bottles of Chiyas Regal. He was assured that he could refuel without interference, that, except perhaps for the scotch, "everything will be ready as specified."

Instead, the unsuspecting pilot was directed to a parking pad where FBI agents were waiting in the predawn darkness. Abruptly, Mr. Downs found another FBI man barking instructions to him from the airport control tower. Instructions that he protested were "endangering lives."

The FBI, it was learned yesterday, heard and repeatedly ignored the captive pilot's desperate pleas.

The FBI's refusal to stay away from the plane and let Mr. Downs refuel, despite his stammered protests, is contained in a hitherto secret transcript of the last radio transmissions between the pilot and authorities. A copy has been obtained by The Washington Post.

The tragedy began early in the morning of Oct. 4 when the 35-year-old Giffe arranged to meet his wife, reportedly on the pretext of saying goodbye before he left the country. According to Nashville police, the couple had broken up a week earlier after a troubled three-year marriage.

Shortly after the shootings, sources say someone in the control tower cracked: "You can't win 'em all."

Tory Members On Their Own In EEC Voting

By Anthony Lewis

LONDON, Oct. 18 (NYT).—Prime Minister Edward Heath, in a startling change of tactics, tonight lifted party discipline on Conservatives for the crucial House of Commons vote on the Common Market.

The vote on British entry will be taken a week from Thursday. Until tonight virtually everyone had assumed that the government would put its members under the strictest orders—a "three-line whip"—to vote for entry.

The effect of the free vote will be, to a significant degree, to leave one of the great choppers in recent British history to the conscience of individual M.P.'s.

It is a historic decision for the House of Commons to take, a more important decision than any that members of Parliament have had to decide by their independent judgments since 1940.

The sudden reversal threw the opposition, the Labor party, into a state of turmoil tonight. Its shadow cabinet held an emergency meeting to see what its tactics should be, but reached no definitive conclusion.

Forecasts of the vote in Commons were also in a state of confusion. But the best analysis tonight was that the expected majority for Britain to enter the European Economic Community would probably be increased.

It seems paradoxical that the vote for the Market could increase as the government relaxes its party disciplinary efforts in behalf of that result.

But there is a reason underneath the apparent paradox: The pro-Market minority in the Labor party is likely to gain more in strength from the vote than the Conservatives will lose.

Hidden on Republic Side Gunmen Fire on U.K. Soldiers Blowing Up Roads on Border

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Oct. 18 (UPI).—British troops blowing up border roads into the Irish Republic battled snipers today for the second time in five days.

An army spokesman said the first incident occurred at Middletown, south Armagh, when snipers opened fire with a machine gun and rifles on members of the Royal Engineers.

A squad of infantry soldiers protecting the sappers returned fire. There were no reports they hit the gunmen, who were hidden in underbrush on the Republic side of the border.

At Clogher, 50 miles to the west, snipers fired at another army unit also setting explosives in minor roads leading to the Republic. The army spokesman said the gunfire came from the Republic side but there were no injuries.

A British soldier was accidentally shot dead tonight near Belfast while sitting in a stationary vehicle. Another soldier was shot by a sniper in Londonderry and is in serious condition, Reuters reported.

European police tighten security after seizure of arms in Amsterdam. Page 2.

to prevent the IRA from using the roads for arms smuggling and hit-and-run raids into Northern Ireland.

Three persons were injured in Belfast today when a bomb blasted a large downtown furniture store. One man was reported in serious condition.

Other bombs during the night damaged the Belfast offices of the Northern Ireland Public Housing Agency and a community relations office in Londonderry.

Full French Honors For S. African Frigate

TOULON, Oct. 18 (Reuters).—The South African anti-submarine frigate President Steyn arrived in this naval base of southern France today to a 21-gun salute from shore batteries.

A French Navy band played the South African and French national anthems.

The 2,145-ton British-built warship will stay in Toulon until Oct. 27, when it is scheduled to escort South Africa's second submarine, the French-built Emily Hobhouse, back home.

After Planeload Is Seized

European Police on Lookout For Arms Shipments to IRA

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 18 (UPI).—European police forces cooperated today in a search for illegal weapons shipments destined for use by the outlawed Irish Republican Army and in a search for an IRA leader.

The police of several nations, acting on information provided by the Dutch state police, sought to crack "Operation Patriot"—an alleged scheme to provide the extremist IRA with arms and ammunition to battle British troops in Northern Ireland.

U.K. Orders Own Inquiry On 'Torture'

(Continued from Page 1) alleged mistreatment of detainees, said the Compton inquiry was a had forum for these complaints since it worked in secret. Moreover, he argued, it did not allow full legal representation of the detainees.

The attitude of Mr. Hume and his colleagues made it likely that the reports of prisoners being mistreated will remain an emotional issue in Ulster. Many of the Catholic minority there do fully believe the reports.

Discussion in Commons But the reference to the Compton inquiry may get the government out of a difficult situation in Parliament here. The House of Commons returned from recess today, and the brainwashing charges were immediately made a hot issue.

Bernadette Devlin, the Catholic independent member from Ulster, moved for an emergency debate on the charges. The speaker, Selwyn Lloyd, ruled against such an immediate debate but remarked that the charges were "without doubt important."

Miss Devlin warned that protests would rise outside the House if some redress did not come inside.

Later Miss Devlin and a colleague went to 10 Downing Street and demanded an assurance from Mr. Heath that "torture and interrogation of Ulster internees would cease."

A private secretary said Mr. Heath would give no such assurance "on hypotheses" since he did not believe such things were happening. Miss Devlin waited outside in the rain.

labeled "Operation Patriot" in a yellow envelope carried by American arms merchant Ernst Albert Koenig, 42, of New York City.

Mr. Koenig was detained for questioning when a shipment of nearly four tons of weapons and ammunition was seized at Amsterdam's Schiphol airport Saturday. The arms, bought from the Czechoslovak company Omnipol for $30,000, were ordered by Mr. Koenig on behalf of a man he knew only as "Dougan."

A police spokesman said "Dougan" might be a pseudonym for David O'Connell, leader of the Provisional wing of the IRA. Mr. O'Connell was known to have been in Amsterdam, in the company of a woman identified as Maura McGuire, last week, police said.

Police also distributed through Interpol a description of another American, identified as Lionel Freeman, whom they wished to question.

Mr. Koenig claims the arms shipment was destined for West Africa and not Northern Ireland. Dutch police said today, the AP reported, Mr. Koenig's story was dismissed as "quite ridiculous" by the police.

The documents also indicated that Mr. Koenig, in his search for weapons and ammunition, had traveled to Frankfurt, Munich and Vienna as well as other cities.

The tip which led to the seizure of the arms came through Interpol from Scotland Yard. Chief Inspector Harry Winslow, of the British Special Branch, is in the Netherlands to question Mr. Koenig, police said.

Under Dutch law, suspects can be held for an initial period of 96 hours without charge. Any extension of this period must be authorized by an examining magistrate. No charges have yet been filed against Mr. Koenig or Capt. John M. Van Homwegen, 47, the Belgian pilot of the arms plane, who is also being held for questioning.

British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home, speaking in the House of Commons today, expressed Britain's "gratitude" to Dutch authorities for intercepting the arms shipment.

Sir Alec said Britain was in touch with the Czechoslovak government about the arms and he would report to Parliament when it became clear if they actually were sold to the IRA by Czechoslovakia.

ATTACKER SUBDUED—Giza Matrai, who described himself as a "Hungarian freedom fighter," is forced to the ground by Royal Canadian Mounted Police after he assaulted Soviet Premier Kosygin outside the Parliament Building in Ottawa yesterday.

Kosygin Assaulted in Ottawa

(Continued from Page 1) was Giza Matrai, the name of a Toronto resident who has been active in the extreme rightist Edmund Burke Society—Canada's equivalent of the John Birch Society in the United States.

Matrai is also active in a group known as the Hungarian Freedom Fighters, a well-known anti-Communist organization.

The assailant had long hair and appeared to be in his late 20s. He was wearing a black leather jacket. Another man was picked up in connection with the attack. He was not identified.

As the assailant was hustled off to an office in Parliament's east block, he kept shouting "Long Live Hungary!" "Freedom for Hungary!" "Down With the Russians!"

Mr. Kosygin originally had been scheduled to leave the Parliament buildings in a limousine, but at the last moment Mr. Trudeau decided to walk with Mr. Kosygin to the east block, where the attack occurred.

The security forces protecting Mr. Kosygin had been strengthened following the discovery of two bombs by police as the Soviet leader and Mr. Trudeau began two days of wide-ranging discussions. They had completed a three-hour talk just before the incident took place.

Reports that a third bomb had been found a block from the Soviet Embassy led police instead to a partially completed Molotov cocktail on a street corner and a cluster of 11 finished Molotov cocktails in the bushes of a nearby park.

"So far we have two bombs, one partial Molotov cocktail, and the makings of 11 other cocktails, and the search continues," a police official said.

Later, in addressing the House of Commons, Mr. Trudeau called the attack a very humiliating event for Canadians and added that it could result in diplomatic repercussions. But he said he did not think Mr. Kosygin was "as upset as I am ashamed."

Qadhafi Said to Ban Al Ahram in Libya

BEIRUT, Oct. 18 (UPI).—Libyan Premier Muammar Qadhafi has banned the Cairo newspaper Al Ahram in Libya, the Beirut magazine Ad-Dustour said today.

The magazine said the ban was decided because Al Ahram did not publish the full text of Col. Qadhafi's Oct. 7 speech in the Libyan city of Sirata.

He told the House of Commons he has asked for an explanation of how the incident could have occurred under the tight security precautions in effect for the Soviet leader's visit.

Mr. Kosygin made a scheduled trip to an electronics laboratory this afternoon, shortly after the attack.

Mr. Kosygin began his eight-day visit to Canada yesterday evening, flying here aboard a Soviet jetliner from Moscow.

Canadian authorities ordered strict security precautions and took into custody two persons out of an estimated 800 demonstrators who protested at the Soviet Embassy before Mr. Kosygin arrived. Some demonstrators threw paint and firecrackers at the embassy walls.

Mr. Kosygin was accompanied by his daughter, Lodmila, who has served frequently as his official hostess since his wife's death in 1968.

Police sources said the headquarters, covered with swastika emblems, was hidden behind an armored door.

The raid was initiated after a police bus was fired on while cruising in the neighborhood last week. Some 300 police combed the buildings, which house 1,500 persons, and detained about 40 youths. A small arsenal of guns and knives was seized, the sources added.

Police also found the headquarters of a Maoist group in another part of the block during the raid.

Neither television nor the press reported that three men were held by Canadian police in connection with a bomb scare after Mr. Kosygin arrived.

Colleges Oust 138 In South Korea

SEOUL, South Korea, Oct. 18 (UPI).—The Ministry of Education announced today that 138 college students have been expelled as troublemakers under the government campaign to crack down on student unrest.

It also said that as of 6 p.m. today university authorities across the nation had reported to the ministry the names of 5,087 students who had not received collegiate military training.

Defense Ministry officials said these students will be deprived of draft-determent privileges and will be enlisted into the army.

The two-hour-a-week compulsory military drill was the main target of protest in recent student demonstrations. Another grievance of the students was government corruption.

In a tough move to quell the demonstrations, which began here on Sept. 28 and spread to two other cities, President Chung Hee Park called seven universities in this capital. Some 2,000 soldiers remained on the campuses today.

Heath Frees Tories to Vote As They Wish on EEC Entry

(Continued from Page 1)

under intense pressure to oppose the Conservative government on this issue as a matter of party regularity.

"Everybody is under awful pressure," one pro-Market Labor member said tonight. "You get the most moving letter from an old party member you respect—that sort of thing."

A free vote on the Tory side will tend to reduce this kind of pressure on the Labor people who favor entry. They cannot be charged as directly with helping a Conservative government on an issue that it considers a matter of political confidence.

The Labor leadership must still decide, however, whether to impose a three-line whip itself. This strongest disciplinary device is simply a written notice of voting orders, underlined three times.

Labor's left wing and other anti-Market elements were bitter tonight over what they considered a tricky maneuver by Mr. Heath. They will press to keep the Labor party under orders.

But whatever discipline is formally imposed on the Labor side, the actual psychological situation will be more relaxed than expected. In particular, the chief figure among the Marketeers, Roy Jenkins, deputy leader of the party, may feel less personal animosity when he votes with the government.

Mr. Heath had said repeatedly that, as he put it last July, the government was "entitled to ask our supporters to support us in the job." That was taken as a reference to a three-line whip, though he never in fact planned it down.

In tonight's statement, the prime minister said he would still ask Conservatives for their support. But to make clear everyone's right to follow his conscience, he said, he had decided to allow a free vote.

The reason for the switch was generally felt to be a pragmatic one. Rumor over the weekend had it that as many as 30 Tories might vote no next week, double some of the earlier estimates. Mr. Heath therefore needed Labor votes.

Whatever the reason, the result must be to make the historic vote

Neo-Nazi Group Found Near Paris

PARIS, Oct. 18 (Reuters).—Police today uncovered the basement headquarters of a neo-Nazi group in a dawn swoop on six blocks of flats in suburban Nanterre.

Police sources said the headquarters, covered with swastika emblems, was hidden behind an armored door.

The raid was initiated after a police bus was fired on while cruising in the neighborhood last week. Some 300 police combed the buildings, which house 1,500 persons, and detained about 40 youths. A small arsenal of guns and knives was seized, the sources added.

Police also found the headquarters of a Maoist group in another part of the block during the raid.

FBI Ignored Hijacked Pilot's F

(Continued from Page 1) a fuel truck would be standing by when he taxied his plane, code-named "58 November," to its assigned spot. The transcript includes these exchanges, beginning seconds after the plane touched down.

Pilot: "(This is) '58 November.' They are going to keep this area clear. Is that correct?"

Tower: "That's affirmative." Pilot: "All right. (Pause) What's that car sitting back off to one right?"

Tower: "It's just an airport vehicle as far as I know, sir." Evidently unsettled, Mr. Downs asked that it be moved away. That of an FBI agent, took over the control tower microphone.

Tower: "'58 November,' '58 November.' This is the FBI speaking. Cut your engine."

Pilot: "...this is the captain speaking. We're going to cut the engines and we're gonna need some fuel, but I request that everyone stay away."

Tower: "'58 November,' Advise when your engines have been cut. '58 November?'"

Pilot: "This is '58 November.' Uh, this gentleman has about 125 pounds of plastic explosives back here and (pause) uh, I got no (pause), uh, yea to join it right now so I would please, uh, appreciate it if you would stay away from this airplane."

Tower: "That's a Roger, '58 November.' Are your engines cut?"

Pilot: "Negative." Tower: "Stand by." Pilot: "Where's the fuel truck?..."

Tower: "This is the FBI. There will be no fuel. Repeat. There will be no fuel. There will be no starter (which Mr. Downs had also requested to get the plane airborne again). Have you cut your engines?" (Pause.) Pilot: "Uh (gasp), look I don't think this fellow's kidding—I wish more of a bi-partisan affair. Instead of members marching dutifully into the lobbies without thought, as W.S. Gilbert said in parody, this will come closer to a reflection of genuine parliamentary beliefs.

Powell Against EEC The anti-Marketeers on the Tory side could grow to as many as 40 with a free vote, but the best opinion puts the limit about there. Their principal spokesman is Enoch Powell.

As for Labor, the pro-Marketeers raised their supposedly firm claims after Mr. Heath's switch tonight. They said they hoped to produce as many as 75 votes for entry and perhaps 15 abstentions.

Mr. Heath's change of tactics is bound to be seen as a significant symbol of a more flexible position on his part. He has often indicated a desire to take firm unyielding stands as prime minister, but lately there have been signs of a more moderate view.

UN Debate on China Open With the U.S. Battling Albania

(Continued from Page 1)

ple's Republic of China into this organization.

To underline this point, Mr. Bush formally moved that the assembly vote first on the U.S. resolution declaring any proposal that would result in the expulsion of Taiwan an important question requiring a two-thirds majority. The Albanian resolution is such a proposal.

The United States has offered a second resolution that calls for the admission of Peking and its occupancy of the Chinese seat in the Security Council, but also for the continuing representation of Taiwan. This is known as the dual-representation resolution.

Saudi Arabian Ambassador Jamal Baroudi offered an amendment to the Albanian resolution today that tended to blur its all-or-nothing approach, or in some observers' eyes seemed an attempt to combine the Albanians' all-or-nothing approach with dual representation under another verbal mask. Its key passage asserted Peking's right to represent the territory which it "exercises full authority" while the representatives of Taiwan would represent at the UN "only the people of the country over which their government rule both de jure and de facto."

Diplomats said that Mr. Baroudi's amendment had won the approval of neither side and that they did not take it seriously.

Mr. Nase belittled America's new support for Peking's membership. He said the United States "has continued its hostile, anti-Chinese policy, which is 9th U.K. Nuclear Sub BARROW-IN-FURNESS, Scotland, Oct. 18 (UPI).—Britain commissioned her ninth nuclear-powered submarine, the $85 million HMS Courageous, at the Vickers shipyards Saturday.

The front of the plane was spotted from the tower. The "Ton can't" remark, according to a spokesman, said the FBI tried the hijacker as Del Thomas, 39, formerly of Alaska.

After the hijacker command, the airliner to Anchorage and the passengers were allowed "the plane. The jet then he again, this time he Vancouver.

you'd get the fuel truck out here." Tower: "'58 November.' There will be no fuel. I repeat. There will be no fuel."

Pilot: "This is '58 November.' You are endangering lives by doing this, and uh, we have no other choice but to go along and uh, for the sake of some lives we request some fuel out here, please."

Tower: "'58 November.' The decision will be no fuel for that aircraft. No starter. Run it out, any way you want. Passengers, if you are listening—the only alternative in this aircraft is to depart the aircraft, to depart the aircraft."

Here, there was a long pause, apparently for some hurried discussions among those aboard the airplane.

It was decided co-pilot Crump would get off the plane and try to talk authorities into letting them refuel.

The co-pilot hopped out only to be met, he has reportedly said, by armed FBI agents who hustled him into a waiting car perhaps 55 yards away. They do not appear to have been interested in discussing what he wanted to tell them, Mr. Crump has been quoted as saying.

The transcript reflects only bits and pieces of all this although the FBI agent in the control tower, named by sources as Frank Burns, was in separate radio contact with agents on the field, led by FBI agent James O'Connor.

Pilot: "'58 November?'" Tower: "'58 November?'" Pilot: "Yea." Tower: "Did someone deplane from your aircraft?"

Pilot: "That's affirmative. The co-pilot." (Pause.) Tower: "'58 November?'" Pilot: (muffled reply).

Tower: "The co-pilot is in the car and will not return to the aircraft. He will not return to the aircraft."

A minute or so later, Mr. Wallace jumped out, perhaps after having persuaded Giffé that he could succeed where Mr. Crump had failed. A pistol reportedly in his belt, Wallace, 32, began moving toward the back of the plane when an FBI agent yelled at him to "hit the ground."

He did as he was told, meanwhile, Agent O'Connor moved to

Trudeau's Ag Brandt Misse It by 2 Years

OTTAWA, Oct. 18 (UPI).—Prime Minister Jean Chrétien today took a protocol step over an old election campaign ruse by Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau.

Mr. Brandt sent Mr. Trudeau a telegram congratulating him on his 50th birthday. Mr. Trudeau actually is 53 today.

Canadian sources in Ottawa said Mr. Trudeau's birthday was officially listed as 18, 1921 until 1968. During election campaigns in the year someone discovered Trudeau's baptismal date, dated 1919, and embarrassed politicians by admitting he was two years younger than he had claimed in previous election campaigns.

Mr. Brandt's staff at the pre-1968 birthdate.

Airliner Hijacked In Alaska, To Go to Cuba

VANCOUVER, B.C. (Reuters).—A hijacked TSI jet airliner with a hijacker and four crew aboard landed at Vancouver today on its Cuba.

[Then, an hour after the engine had taken fuel enough for a projected flight to Mexico City, the hijacker was being taken to Vancouver. The hijacker wanted "a plane," UPI said. It appears the only long-range plane at Vancouver airport, engine Boeing-707, would be flown to the hijacker, it insisted.]

The hijacker of Wien dated Airline, was hijacked after takeoff with 31 passengers aboard from Anchorage national Airport earlier an armed man who held the airplane hostage, a spokesman said. The hijacker was Del Thomas, 39, formerly of Alaska.

After the hijacker command, the airliner to Anchorage and the passengers were allowed "the plane. The jet then he again, this time he Vancouver.

you'd get the fuel truck out here." Tower: "'58 November.' There will be no fuel. I repeat. There will be no fuel."

Pilot: "This is '58 November.' You are endangering lives by doing this, and uh, we have no other choice but to go along and uh, for the sake of some lives we request some fuel out here, please."

Tower: "'58 November.' The decision will be no fuel for that aircraft. No starter. Run it out, any way you want. Passengers, if you are listening—the only alternative in this aircraft is to depart the aircraft, to depart the aircraft."

Here, there was a long pause, apparently for some hurried discussions among those aboard the airplane.

It was decided co-pilot Crump would get off the plane and try to talk authorities into letting them refuel.

The co-pilot hopped out only to be met, he has reportedly said, by armed FBI agents who hustled him into a waiting car perhaps 55 yards away. They do not appear to have been interested in discussing what he wanted to tell them, Mr. Crump has been quoted as saying.

The transcript reflects only bits and pieces of all this although the FBI agent in the control tower, named by sources as Frank Burns, was in separate radio contact with agents on the field, led by FBI agent James O'Connor.

Pilot: "'58 November?'" Tower: "'58 November?'" Pilot: "Yea." Tower: "Did someone deplane from your aircraft?"

Pilot: "That's affirmative. The co-pilot." (Pause.) Tower: "'58 November?'" Pilot: (muffled reply).

Tower: "The co-pilot is in the car and will not return to the aircraft. He will not return to the aircraft."

A minute or so later, Mr. Wallace jumped out, perhaps after having persuaded Giffé that he could succeed where Mr. Crump had failed. A pistol reportedly in his belt, Wallace, 32, began moving toward the back of the plane when an FBI agent yelled at him to "hit the ground."

He did as he was told, meanwhile, Agent O'Connor moved to you'd get the fuel truck out here." Tower: "'58 November.' There will be no fuel. I repeat. There will be no fuel."

Pilot: "This is '58 November.' You are endangering lives by doing this, and uh, we have no other choice but to go along and uh, for the sake of some lives we request some fuel out here, please."

Tower: "'58 November.' The decision will be no fuel for that aircraft. No starter. Run it out, any way you want. Passengers, if you are listening—the only alternative in this aircraft is to depart the aircraft, to depart the aircraft."

Here, there was a long pause, apparently for some hurried discussions among those aboard the airplane.

It was decided co-pilot Crump would get off the plane and try to talk authorities into letting them refuel.

The co-pilot hopped out only to be met, he has reportedly said, by armed FBI agents who hustled him into a waiting car perhaps 55 yards away. They do not appear to have been interested in discussing what he wanted to tell them, Mr. Crump has been quoted as saying.

Costa do Sol Portugal

...The blue Atlantic waters and golden sand beaches from CARCAVELOS to ESTORIL, CASCAIS and GUINCHO await you with sun and fun all year round. You may enjoy a round of golf, a game of tennis or you may choose to stroll in a quiet fishing village which is also a sun worshiper's paradise. Relaxation and all manner of exciting cosmopolitan pastimes are available, including a casino. Superb hotels and restaurants to suit any purse, from the luxurious to the economy class, complete the picture at Costa do Sol.

For information see any good Travel Agent, one of the many TAP offices or write either to Junta de Turismo da Costa do Sol (ESTORIL) or any of these hotels (no street address is needed):

- CARCAVELOS: Hotel Praia Mar*, CASCAIS: Hotel Estoril Sol*, Hotel Cidadela*, Hotel Baia, Hotel Nau
ESTORIL: Hotel Palácio*, Hotel Cibra*, Hotel -Apartamento das Arcadas, Hotel Lido, Hotel de Inglaterra, Hotel Paris
MONTE ESTORIL: Grande Hotel*, Hotel Atlântico, Hotel Monte Estoril*, Hotel Zenite, Hotel Miramar, Hotel Londres

GEORG JENSEN SILVER advertisement listing London and Paris addresses and contact information.

MICHEL SWISS advertisement for perfumes, gloves, bags, and ties.

WEATH table listing weather forecasts for various cities like ALGAYE, ANKARA, ATHENS, etc.

Handwritten note in Arabic script: "هذا هو الجاني"

Belgium to Avoid Mass Expulsion Confirms Giving Asylum Soviet Spy From Belgium

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The State Department announced today that Anatoly Gromov, a former Soviet spy, was given asylum in Belgium after the United States announced that the Russian report in touch with the Embassy in the Belgian capital asked for asylum. The department said it was said he had no information at all about the report.

Mr. Gromov, 38, disappeared Oct. 3 and was reported missing the next day by the Soviet Embassy. The blue Russian-made Scania car he was using when he disappeared was found four days later in the northern port town of Zeebrugge.

Soviet Activities
"Tchobotarev has made statements about the activities of Soviet citizens in Belgium," the Foreign Ministry statement said. "The government was informed of them."

The ministry referred to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Supreme Headquarters Allied Forces Europe and the European Common Market, all of which have their headquarters in Belgium.

Police sources said Mr. Tchobotarev had supplied a list of at least 37 Soviet spies operating in Belgium. The sources quoted Mr. Tchobotarev as saying at least some of them were employed in monitoring telephone lines used by NATO and SHAPE.

Government sources said Belgium will act quietly, through diplomatic channels, to deal with the threat raised by the alleged spies. The sources said no mass expulsion is foreseen. They said Belgium had been aware of the existence of a number of spies and that Mr. Tchobotarev's information will help close certain investigations currently under way.

The sources said Belgium's NATO allies were kept informed of its actions. Officials at NATO and SHAPE declined all comment on the news. Police sources said Mr. Tchobotarev, after leaving his car at Zeebrugge, had been taken to Britain aboard a small boat.

18 Have Left
The sources said 18 staff members of the Soviet travel organization Intourist and of the Scania automobile assembly plant near the NATO headquarters left for Moscow last weekend.

BURNING OIL—Fire raging out of control on oil drilling platform in Eugene Island area of Gulf of Mexico, 100 miles southwest of New Orleans, with heavy streaks of oil extending over large area reported by Coast Guard. Four of five wells have been burning since Saturday. No deaths have been reported.

Nixon Opens Germ Lab to Cancer Study

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 18 (AP)—President Nixon announced today the conversion of a former biological-warfare research center into a centerpiece of the government's crusade against cancer.

For thousands of years, Mr. Nixon said, "mankind has dreamed of turning swords into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks—of changing the implements of war into instruments of peace. Today we mark another chapter in the realization of that dream."

The President also announced that 40 prominent scientists will meet in Washington Oct. 25-29, to develop a national plan for the anti-cancer effort.

The center, at Ft. Detrick, will be operated by the National Cancer Institute under contract with the private sector.

Ft. Detrick, an Army installation, was one of the nation's largest facilities for germ-warfare research until November, 1969, when Mr. Nixon renounced the production and stockpiling of offensive biological weapons.

Among his suggestions to fight pollution were a $4.5 to $5 billion annual world budget for marine research, with the United States contributing about half; pretesting new products to determine if they are pollutants; and a campaign to convince industry to program into the price of their products the cost of eliminating pollution.

City Denies Sex Reports Riotous Victory Celebration Held in Downtown Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18 (UPI)—The city cleaned up tons of debris today left by a jubilant and unruly mob, estimated at 100,000 persons, which jammed downtown streets to celebrate the Pittsburgh Pirates World Series baseball victory yesterday over the Baltimore Orioles.

The celebration last night led to 98 arrests, mostly on charges of drunkenness, the smashing of about 20 store windows, looting and the overturning of four vehicles—including a taxi and a police motorcycle which were set afire.

The crowd and its enthusiasm swayed far beyond expectations, and police eventually had to stop all traffic headed into Pittsburgh and cut short a motorcade of Pirate players returning from Baltimore.

At the height of the melee, the AP reported, a police desk sergeant said he had calls reporting about a dozen apparent assaults—some in full view of hundreds of persons who cheered the assaults—and displays of public looting, mud and excessive drinking. "This isn't a riot," the AP reported a motorcycle policeman as saying in the downtown area. "It's a goddamn orgy."

Police Supt. Robert E. Colville said at a news conference today, "As a result of the many un-founded and in some cases completely fabricated stories which went over national news media, I believe it is necessary to set the facts straight."

When asked how he believed erroneous information had been obtained, Mr. Colville explained that police often are called by dispatchers to check out rumors which prove unfounded.

Refuses to See Papadopoulos Greek Opposition Boycotts Embassy Reception for Agnew

By Peter Grose
ATHENS, Oct. 18 (NYT)—Greek opposition politicians boycotted a formal U.S. Embassy reception for Vice President Agnew tonight rather than be presented to him in the presence of Premier George Papadopoulos.

The reception came after the conclusion, in strict protocol terms, of Mr. Agnew's official visit to Greece, though the vice-president and his wife will remain another four days as private visitors.

No communiqué was issued after the last scheduled working meeting between Mr. Agnew and Mr. Papadopoulos this morning. The only official statements made by both sides said merely that the two leaders discussed "matters relating to Greece's role in the NATO alliance."

As long as Mr. Agnew was the official guest of the regime, it was obviously up to Mr. Papadopoulos to decide who would meet the vice-president and who would not. With the official visit now concluded, tonight's reception could have been an occasion to introduce those Greek leaders out of favor with the regime.

American sources said that about two dozen opposition politicians were included among more than 1,000 persons invited to the reception at the Athens Hilton Hotel. They included none of the leaders of the two main opposition parties, the National Radical Union and the Center Union, but were rather second- or third-ranking party members who had served in the parliament before the coup.

Such advice were being given, it would have to be done discreetly and secretly to be effective. Western diplomats believe that Mr. Agnew is suggesting that gestures be made if for no other reason than to help President Nixon's policy of continuing American military support for the military-supported Greek government against liberal opposition in the United States and Western Europe.

For a week, speculation in Athens has concentrated on tonight's embassy reception to discover how U.S. Ambassador Henry J. Tasca would handle the delicate problem of Greece's highly vocal political opposition.

No Leaders Invited
As long as Mr. Agnew was the official guest of the regime, it was obviously up to Mr. Papadopoulos to decide who would meet the vice-president and who would not. With the official visit now concluded, tonight's reception could have been an occasion to introduce those Greek leaders out of favor with the regime.

American sources said that about two dozen opposition politicians were included among more than 1,000 persons invited to the reception at the Athens Hilton Hotel. They included none of the leaders of the two main opposition parties, the National Radical Union and the Center Union, but were rather second- or third-ranking party members who had served in the parliament before the coup.

City Denies Sex Reports Riotous Victory Celebration Held in Downtown Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18 (UPI)—The city cleaned up tons of debris today left by a jubilant and unruly mob, estimated at 100,000 persons, which jammed downtown streets to celebrate the Pittsburgh Pirates World Series baseball victory yesterday over the Baltimore Orioles.

The celebration last night led to 98 arrests, mostly on charges of drunkenness, the smashing of about 20 store windows, looting and the overturning of four vehicles—including a taxi and a police motorcycle which were set afire.

The crowd and its enthusiasm swayed far beyond expectations, and police eventually had to stop all traffic headed into Pittsburgh and cut short a motorcade of Pirate players returning from Baltimore.

At the height of the melee, the AP reported, a police desk sergeant said he had calls reporting about a dozen apparent assaults—some in full view of hundreds of persons who cheered the assaults—and displays of public looting, mud and excessive drinking. "This isn't a riot," the AP reported a motorcycle policeman as saying in the downtown area. "It's a goddamn orgy."

Police Supt. Robert E. Colville said at a news conference today, "As a result of the many un-founded and in some cases completely fabricated stories which went over national news media, I believe it is necessary to set the facts straight."

When asked how he believed erroneous information had been obtained, Mr. Colville explained that police often are called by dispatchers to check out rumors which prove unfounded.

Seven at SHAPE In Belgium Held In Hashish Raid

CASTEAU, Belgium, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—Belgian police appear to have smashed part of an international drug-smuggling ring set up by workers at NATO's European military headquarters here after a raid on a nearby apartment over the weekend.

A police spokesman said seven people, six Canadians and an American, had been arrested on charges of illegal possession and use of drugs. All were assigned to Supreme Allied Headquarters Europe (SHAPE), based here.

He identified them as Bertrand Dala, 27, Delta Buford, 25, Frances Deagle, 23, Christine Borlinski, 19, Yves Brunel, 21, and Sudon Atkins, 26, all from Canada, and Mary Peltrey, 25, the American.

Police said there were at least 17 people in the apartment at the time of the raid, which yielded half a pound of hashish and a number of North African pipes used for smoking it.

Further inquiries suggested that the apartment at Belleil, about 10 miles west of here, was being used as a clearing house in drug trafficking between the Netherlands, West Germany, Spain and North Africa.

Police Supt. Robert E. Colville said at a news conference today, "As a result of the many un-founded and in some cases completely fabricated stories which went over national news media, I believe it is necessary to set the facts straight."

Poliburo Approves Soviet 5-Year Plan

MOSCOW, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Politburo has approved the 1971-1975 five-year plan and a half month after Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said it "must" be ready.

Pravda said yesterday the 15-man ruling body met last Thursday to approve the national economic blueprint and decided to forward it to the Central Committee plenum for discussion and the Supreme Soviet for adoption.

Lateness in devising a draft of the plan was believed to have caused postponement of the Communist party congress, scheduled for last year but not convened until March 30 of this year.

Police Supt. Robert E. Colville said at a news conference today, "As a result of the many un-founded and in some cases completely fabricated stories which went over national news media, I believe it is necessary to set the facts straight."

When asked how he believed erroneous information had been obtained, Mr. Colville explained that police often are called by dispatchers to check out rumors which prove unfounded.

Police Supt. Robert E. Colville said at a news conference today, "As a result of the many un-founded and in some cases completely fabricated stories which went over national news media, I believe it is necessary to set the facts straight."

of Defector's KGB Unit: otage, 'Eliminating' Foes

ON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—Today said Russian defector Lyalin belonged to a unit which specialized in organizing sabotage in this country and in the enemies of the Soviet Union.

General Sir Peter Peter, after revealing this in a report to the House of Commons, said Lyalin was a defector from the KGB because of fears for his own life, whose defection led to the banning of Soviet officials from the charges against last week.

Lyalin, whose defection led to the banning of Soviet officials from the charges against last week, was a defector from the KGB because of fears for his own life, whose defection led to the banning of Soviet officials from the charges against last week.

Lyalin, whose defection led to the banning of Soviet officials from the charges against last week, was a defector from the KGB because of fears for his own life, whose defection led to the banning of Soviet officials from the charges against last week.

Cousteau Warns Oceans May Die Within 50 Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (UPI)—French marine explorer Jacques Cousteau said today the world's oceans will die within half a century unless action is taken to eliminate pollution.

"If nothing is done . . . in 30, 40, 50 years, it will be the end of everything," Mr. Cousteau told the opening session of an international conference on ocean pollution.

Mr. Cousteau said the area of the oceans outside territorial limits was "outlaw country" where pollution cannot now be controlled. But he said he had "great hopes" for the Skylab-2 satellite, which he said would be able to spot polluters from space.

Laos Prince in London

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier of Laos, flew into London today for talks with Prime Minister Edward Heath and Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Freed GI Honored

AURORA, Colo., Oct. 18 (AP)—Sgt. John C. Sexton Jr., 33, freed 10 days ago by the Viet Cong in Cambodia after 26 months in captivity, received the Purple Heart with a second oak leaf cluster here yesterday at Fitzsimmons General Hospital where he is recuperating from his ordeal.

WHILE IN HOLLAND
MEET THE VAN MOPPELS
WORLD'S LARGEST DIAMOND POLISHING FACTORY
FREE FOR VISITORS
A. van MOPPELS & SON
2-6 ALBERT CUYFFSTRAAT
AMSTERDAM
SINCE 1923
ALSO: MANUFACTURERS OF OWN DESIGNED JEWELS TAX FREE SHIPPING FROM FACTORY TO CUSTOMER

WORLD FAMOUS Pumperniks
RESTAURANT & SANDWICH SHOPS
LOCATIONS: MIAMI BEACH, FLORIDA
MIAMI BEACH, FLORIDA

FREDDY PERFUMES
GLOVES — BAGS — GIFTS
10 RUE AUBER, PARIS
SPECIAL EXPORT DISCOUNT
Phone: RIC. 76-08

You can count
the countries that don't drink Black & White on one hand.

There's all anti-Cuba and Mongolia. And you can see straight away, however much they might like the taste of our Scotch, they can't admit it. On the other hand, 168 countries love our taste. And are the first to admit it. That's why we say the taste of Black & White has conquered the whole world. Almost. That's also why we drink to absent friends.

Today 168 countries,
Tomorrow the world.

Come to the flavor of Marlboro

Marlboro
20 GLASS & CIGARETTES

moda Selezione

moda Selezione

The Italian luxury look in clothing and fashion accessories

THE 1972 SPRING AND SUMMER COLLECTIONS are presented in Turin (Italy)

moda Selezione

moda Selezione

from 29th OCTOBER to 1st NOVEMBER 1971

Palazzo del Lavoro Via Ventimiglia 211 - Torino

Information: 10135 Turin (Italy)

Corso Traiano 84 - Teleph. 612 612 - Telegr. Samiato

moda Selezione

moda Selezione

Sight-Seeing in Arizona

Former U.S. Education Chief James Allen Dies in Air Crash

PEACH SPRINGS, Ariz., Oct. 18 (UPI)—A sheriff's posse slowly made its way today to an almost inaccessible desert plateau where 10 persons, including former U.S. Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr., 60, died in the crash of a sightseeing plane.

a more direct voice in how their schools were run. After leaving the Nixon administration, Mr. Allen joined the faculty at the Woodrow Wilson School of International and Public Affairs at Princeton, directing the exploratory program in education and public affairs. The program studies federal and state relations in education with an emphasis on educational finance.

Quoted by Nixon ALBANY, N.Y., Oct. 18 (AP)—As New York State education commissioner, Mr. Allen spoke out in favor of equal education for all students, black and white. As U.S. commissioner of education, he spoke out against the U.S. military thrust into Cambodia in 1970, and this criticism cost him his job.

Upon accepting President Nixon's offer to become U.S. commissioner of education in February, 1969, Mr. Allen confided to friends that he did not expect to be on the job long. State education commissioner in New York for 14 years, he had turned down a similar offer for a federal post from former President Kennedy in 1961 to stay in New York.

After sixteen months in office, the Nixon administration asked for and received Mr. Allen's resignation.

The wedge that drove him to disfavor with the Nixon administration was his May 21, 1970, statement on the move into Cambodia by U.S. troops.

"Difficult to Understand" "I find it difficult to understand the rationale behind the move into Cambodia as a means of supporting and hastening the withdrawal from Vietnam—a withdrawal that I feel must be accomplished as quickly as possible," he said.

When he joined the Nixon administration, Mr. Allen was given as his first priority the improvement of urban education. After his ouster, however, the Elkins, W. Va., native said he had doubts about the administration's desegregation policies.

"I did not believe there was a full commitment. It was the most important and critical issue in our country in this century," he said.

He spoke of the "serious frustrations" of his tenure and "the inordinate influence of partisan political considerations" involved in making top-level appointments.

N.Y. Post in 1971 Mr. Allen joined the New York State Education Department in 1957 and became deputy commissioner of education in 1959. He was elevated to the commissioner's post and presidency of the University of New York on Sept. 1, 1965, at the age of 44.

Mr. Allen had declared many times that children who attended segregated schools were deprived of equal educational opportunity.

He maintained that the only way to insure a quality education for all children was to desegregate schools and give all children—black and white—the same educational environment.

Controversy in L. I. In 1963, Mr. Allen ordered a Long Island school district to begin planning for the elimination of racial barriers in its schools. Among other things, his plan called for school busing, if necessary, to achieve racial balance. The plan caused considerable controversy but was upheld by the courts.

Softspoken but decisive, Mr. Allen figured prominently in the settling of the New York City teachers' strike in 1968. He also urged the decentralization of New York City's sprawling school system, with administration of the schools placed in the hands of local boards to give citizens

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—Pope Paul VI today called on the Polish government to permit complete civil and religious freedom and halted Polish Cardinal Jozef Glemp's visit to the Holy See.

The 74-year-old Pontiff, who once worked as a Vatican diplomat in Warsaw, was addressing about 5,000 Polish pilgrims who attended the beatification yesterday of the Rev. Maksymilian Kolbe.

Polish Kolbe gave his life at Auschwitz concentration camp during World War II for Franciszek Gajowniczek, 70, who was among the pilgrims.

J. Humbert-Droz Dies; Once With Red International LA CHAUX-DE-FONDS, Switzerland, Oct. 18 (AP)—Jules Humbert-Droz, 80, former secretary of the Communist International, died here Saturday.

Mr. Humbert-Droz, a one-time Protestant pastor and co-founder of the Swiss Communist party, went to Moscow after the Bolshevik Revolution to become one of the three secretaries of the Communist International in 1921.

He lost the post ten years later after Stalin accused him of deviating from the party line. Later, he was also expelled from the Swiss party. Between 1946 and 1965 he was a leading functionary in the Swiss Socialist party, then retired to write his memoirs.

Ex-Rail Chief Of India Gives Up His Sit-In NEW DELHI, Oct. 18 (UPI)—The former chairman of the Indian Railway Board stepped from his private railroad coach Friday, ending his six-day sit-in protest.

"They do things like a jackal, which only does things in the dark," said E.C. Ganguli of a retirement order issued earlier last week under the name of Indian President V.V. Giri. "I am still the chairman of the railways. No one has told me I have retired."

Preceded by his baggage, Mr. Ganguli, 57, emerged at noon from a door at the opposite end of the coach where government officials pasted the retirement order last Tuesday when they were unable to serve it on him.

Mr. Ganguli shattered himself inside the air-conditioned car when it was uncoupled from an express train moments before it pulled away, leaving him stranded in a suburban station six miles from downtown New Delhi.

He had vowed he would remain inside until he was given an official explanation for the action, which he termed as a humiliation and an insult.

Copters Take II Off Burned Ship; 9 Choose to Stay GULDBROSE, England, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—Two military helicopters, battling against gale-force conditions in the Atlantic, today plucked 11 survivors and a dead crewman off the stricken Norwegian ship Anatina and returned safely here with them.

Nine crewmen stayed voluntarily with the 10,500-ton tanker, which has been holed by gales since an explosion and fire on Saturday ravaged the superstructure and killed the seaman and a stewardess.

The helicopters dropped supplies onto the Anatina's charred deck for the remaining crewmen. In the stormy conditions, Lt. Comdr. Hallitt, in charge of the helicopter, said "Waves were about 30 feet high, with 36-knot winds gusting slightly more."

2 Fires at Portsmouth PORTSMOUTH, England, Oct. 18 (AP)—Fire broke out today aboard the aircraft carrier Ark Royal, Britain's biggest warship, only 12 hours after another blaze on a guided-missile destroyer moved nearby.

The ship's fire crew brought the blaze under control, and only minor damage was reported. Earlier a minor fire broke out on the Devonshire, a missile destroyer, moved a few hundred yards away.

Lakers Trade Robertson LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers have traded 6-foot-9-inch center-forward Rick Robertson to the Cleveland Cavaliers for a future high draft choice and cash.

Dr. James E. Allen Jr.

Pope Calls on Poland to Allow Religious and Civil Freedom

Referring to the official Polish government delegation which came for the beatification, but was not present at today's audience, the Pope extended "respectful greetings" to Poland's authorities.

He then recommended Poland to the "protection" of the Blessed Maksymilian Kolbe; "so that the whole country may rejoice in religious and civil freedom and peace and in the prosperity which the traditional human and Christian virtues of its noble people deserve."

There were several Auschwitz survivors among the audience. A group, wearing former prison uniforms, presented the Pope with small urns containing ashes and bones of some of the camp's four million victims.

Heading the pilgrims was Cardinal Wyszyński, who has frequently clashed with the Polish government. The Pope lauded him as a man "who with such wisdom and honor represents the Catholic Church and defends its mission."

"Do not believe that our invitation (of faithfulness to the church) halts your path toward economic, social and cultural development," the Pontiff said.

Elizabeth Begins Visit to Turkey

ANKARA, Oct. 18 (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth II arrived today to begin the first state visit to Turkey by a British monarch.

A 21-gun salute rumbled out as she stepped down from her plane to be greeted by President Cevdet Sunay, The Duke of Edinburgh and Princess Anne also were at Esenboga Airport to greet the queen.

The queen's husband and daughter arrived in Ankara yesterday from Iran, where they attended the 2,000th anniversary celebrations of the Iranian monarchy.

Thousands of people lined the streets in warm sunshine to watch the queen and Mr. Sunay, a prisoner of war of the British during World War I, drive to the presidential palace.

If Not Oil, It's Plastic: San Remo Battles a New Beach Pollution

SAN REMO, Italy, Oct. 18 (UPI)—It was like some out of science-fiction as millions of plastic balls the size of grains of rice and from the depths of the Tyrrhenian today and ashore, turned the beaches of this Riviera resort as snow.

Port authorities said the tiny polystyrene balls came the wreck of the converted British tanker London V which sank off Genoa last year. Dutch salvage experts: billions of the lighter-than-water balls—more than 18 to them—last week to refloat the wreck, but it sank again.

Shipping authorities said the sea was 8475 feet at the place where the 15,000-ton London Valour went down second time. They said water pressure apparently on the ship, causing the polystyrene balls to bob to the surface.

San Remo authorities set up an emergency clean-up force, with workers collecting the balls in containers.

Anti-Apartheid White Women Demonstrate in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, Oct. 18 (UPI)—A movement of white women opposing apartheid—the Black Sash—today demonstrated here against security laws and police practices in one of South Africa's rare gestures of public dissent.

"Stop Detentions Without Trials," read some of the signs carried by groups of women pickets at four points in central Johannesburg.

Canal Zone Cuts Sought By Panamas

Torrijos Wants In U.S. Treaty By Madrid PANAMA CITY, Oct. 18 (UPI)—Panama's Torrijos has made it clear he wants not only to take over the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone, but also a reduction in size of the U.S. military contingent in the area.

According to Brig. Gen. Torrijos, the American side defending the canal has many unacceptable situations of them being the "presence of U.S. troops in Panama." He wants a new treaty with a say in the 50,000 people living in the Canal Zone, close to 100 military men.

In a recent interview general was not willing what he believed to be a able size for the U.S. He insisted, however, that was "no need for them to many" to operate and defend canal.

As Panamanians have past, the general also said the U.S. should close U.S. and Air Force schools, hundreds of Latin American graduates each year, training camps, the general "have nothing to do with ing the canal."

For the officers who to these schools, Gen. Torrijos approval of their presence in Panama. Most of the N. Guardians who act both a army and in Panama. Gen. Torrijos's power, he trained at U.S. schools, a high official recently said "the only place in this hem where the future leaders of America get together."

The Inter-American Air Academy this year has 3 dents, the largest figure history, and the U.S. Army of the Americas is giving to 1,525 officers, and a listed men from 17 Latin countries.

At the U.S. Army school course on urban warfare such illustrious students chief of the riot police I dora, Argentina, the public relations chief of the Guat armed forces, and the entire gence staff of Ecuador, course is just over a year teaches how to deal with hijackers, political rioters urban guerrillas.

Gen. Torrijos has taken special courses off the U.S. military. One ment head testified that guerrilla warfare course h cut number one of the class.

Most political observers agree that Panama's str has been using tough b against the United States public speeches to strengt Panam's position at the canal negotiations in Was In private the general, he has good relations v U.S. armed forces but lies there are too ms military men in his coun

Advertisement for SÜDDEUTSCHE KLASSEN LOTTERIE, featuring a DM 360 or $106.6 million prize and details about ticket prices and terms.

Handwritten Arabic text at the bottom left corner.

The Congo: Recent Voyage of Discovery—II

By Dick Roraback

(The second of two articles.)

Wildlife vs. the Tourists

WAZUFUFA Honoré de Balsack. You could look it up.)

Neither Stanislas, nor guide Gerard, nor even the aristocratic Albert Prigogine...

Back in the bus, Jules, taking up the familiar refrain, barked, "Elephants! What kind of content you running, we got no elephants!"

At Vitzhumbi, a fishing town that is the only settlement tolerated in the park, Jules's dream comes true.

"Give him a peanut," said Jules. "I got four shots left."

The bus meandered back to camp in the fading light along the Ruzshuru River...

The average Congolese citizen incidentally remains delightfully uninterested in the tour...

Beyond Kinshasa, however, stretches a country of untold splendor, as rich and unmaped in tourist delights as it is in mineral and agricultural wealth.

A thousand-mile eastward flight to Goma reveals the surface of a land unmatched in variety...

So, indeed, is the wildlife, a subject of constant conversation—as well as conservation—from Pymy country in the northeast to The Vatican.

Still recounted with distaste is the true story of the visitor who disappeared some months ago while swimming in the falls just below Kinshasa...

So, indeed, is the wildlife, a subject of constant conversation—as well as conservation—from Pymy country in the northeast to The Vatican.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

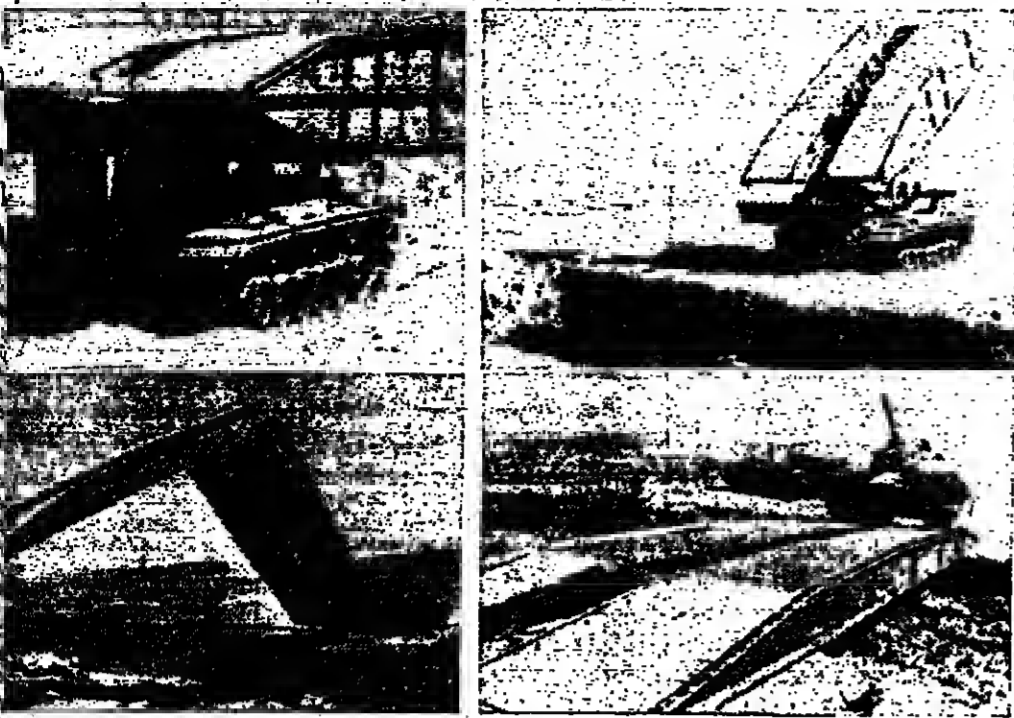

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

American-built Israeli Army bridge-laying tank seen recently in full operation.

Israel Shows Bridge-Laying Tank From U.S.

AVIV, Oct. 18 (UPI)—Israel revealed one of its acquisitions from the United States—a World War II tank redesigned to post-9-year bridge across an in a few minutes.

M-48-A2C bridge-laying tank is designed to enable to push through rough and across small rivers.

It can span the 200-yard gap but it could handle an River at some points—the first disclosure of

Gon Units Kill 29 Reds Clash Near Firebase Pace

SAIGON, Oct. 18 (UPI)—South Vietnamese paratroopers with heavy support killed 29 Viet Cong soldiers in a sharp clash along the border, the Saigon government soldiers were and 20 wounded in the area miles north of U.S.

Face, a frequent target of Communist shelling in the area. The fighting involved 300 Americans and Vietnamese are based, other eight rounds of mortar fire today, despite of B-52 bomber strikes and two more today. The base, 300 miles from the Cambodian border, the bomber raids today dropped 180 tons of conventional bombs, including 100,000 number of ordnance in South Viet-as the least since Jan. 5, when there were 198, and it included only combat battalions com-and high of 112 in April in the American pullback played report issued to in Holds

in Suspect

ORD, England, Oct. 18—A West Pakistani man accused here today of to nine houses and this industrial town occupants—nearly all families—were inside.

ned Ashraf, 34, appeared on 18 charges, most alleged arson attempts, were to be held in cus-

Oct. 27 and was granted. Police said the fires between June 16 and last has aroused widespread interest here, where three children, aged 8, 11 and in their blazing homes.

Their mother, 36, died from her burns. Police for the four deaths as are still looking for in Celebration of Years With You.

Shikharath a big City has Green Street

Francisco, California

Egypt and Syria Could Face Israel With Million Men

BEIRUT, Oct. 18 (UPI)—Egypt and Syria have mobilized about one million soldiers—equivalent to one-third of Israel's population—for any future confrontation with the Jewish state, according to figures given by Syrian and Egyptian military sources recently.

The troops are under the command of Egyptian War Minister and Commander-in-Chief Mohammed Abdel Sadek, the sources said.

A high-ranking Egyptian official was quoted by the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram last July as saying Egypt can mobilize about three-quarters of a million armed men for the battle with Israel.

Syrian President Hafez Assad said in a speech broadcast over Damascus radio today that Syria has mobilized about a quarter-million soldiers for the direct confrontation with Israel.

In Cairo, Al-Ahram reported today that Gen. Sadek will visit Damascus soon for coordination between Syria's southern front and Egypt's eastern front.

Still recounted with distaste is the true story of the visitor who disappeared some months ago while swimming in the falls just below Kinshasa.

No less than 13 crocodiles were shot dead in the aftermath and the remains of the victim found in five of them—including an undigested pair of tennis shoes (suggesting that compulsory gear for swimming in the Congo should include a Lacoste shirt and a pair of hip-length sneakers.)

Curiously, the general sympathy seems to be on the side of the crocs. The almost fanatic dedication of the Congolese to

Separate State Of Palestine Is Arab Topic

GAZA CITY, Oct. 18 (UPI)—Arab leaders from the occupied West Bank of Jordan and the Gaza Strip took a first tentative step today toward the possible creation of a Palestinian state.

The mayor of the West Bank city of Hebron, Mohammed Ali-Jabry, and Gaza Mayor Rashad A-Shahua was the first with political undertones permitted between Arab leaders by the Israeli occupation authorities.

Mr. Ali-Jabry went to Gaza to congratulate Mr. A-Shahua, who was recently named mayor, and to discuss calling a Palestinian congress for planning either a separate state or a federation with Israel.

The officials said that President Nixon made known his "special appreciation" of Mr. Pompidou's efforts.

Nixon Hails Pompidou For Stand on Drugs

PARIS, Oct. 18 (UPI)—President Nixon has applauded French President Georges Pompidou for his efforts to unite the nations of the European Common Market and Britain in a war against illegal drugs.

The officials said that President Nixon made known his "special appreciation" of Mr. Pompidou's efforts.

The officials said that President Nixon made known his "special appreciation" of Mr. Pompidou's efforts.

Suspension Bridge Across Channel Instead of Tunnel Urged by Expert

LONDON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—A scheme to link Britain and France by a bridge suspended 230 feet over the English Channel seaway was put forward today by a specialist in tall buildings as a more practical alternative to the proposed Channel tunnel.

The idea, which is being publicized by the government-owned British Steel Corp. in its monthly journal, came from a Hungarian-born British consulting engineer, Willem Frischmann, who came to Britain as a boy in 1946.

Mr. Frischmann and his partners have specialized in designing tall buildings and only last week saw the foundations laid for a new headquarters for the National and Westminster Bank which will rise 600 feet and will, it is claimed, be the tallest inhabited building in Europe.

His idea for a Channel bridge is that it would be hung from 2,500-foot towers (about two and a half times as tall as the Eiffel Tower) located on the British and French coasts and on a mid-Channel eucrocity built on sandbanks.

His version of the bridge would include two three-lane highways for motor vehicles, a railway and pipelines for natural gas and oil—all enclosed in an oval tube.

He says that his highway would be able to accommodate 10,000 vehicles an hour—many more than could be transported by rail through a tunnel.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

There is still time to abandon the inadequate, claustrophobic burrow blueprinted by planners since Napoleon's time.

DIAMONDS You can save up to 50 percent on single diamonds at wholesale prices by ordering direct from Antwerp, the world's largest cut-diamond market.

ETERNA SONIC For the electronic age. electronic precision timekeeping.

CHUNN Perfumes. Norman Alberman (Pres.) Perfumes. Occasional Gifts, Gloves, Bags.

UNION ROUTIERE MOVER. Fast - Efficient - Savings. Collection throughout France.

Martini & Rossi. Taste it like it is. This is the sweet vermouth that's good enough to drink just by itself. It has a taste you ought to taste. So try it straight, with some ice. You'll like it like it is.

AAA IN EUROPE, TOO! AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION OFFICES SERVE YOU IN PARIS, LONDON, ROME. CARS, TOURS, RESERVATIONS.

U.S. Ends Grounding Of C-5 Cargo Plane. WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The first of 47 grounded C-5 jumbo cargo planes returned to the air today and the Air Force said 16 others "are expected to be back in service" once inspections are completed.

Kosygin in Canada

Among the perambulations of statesmen, that of Premier Kosygin to Canada might have rated high for drama. But the efforts of Prime Minister Trudeau to assert a Canadian individuality in foreign affairs have been overtaken by events. His recognition of Communist China was followed by the announcement of President Nixon's intention of going to Peking; his journey to Moscow by Mr. Nixon's public plans for a similar trip. Mr. Trudeau can claim precedence in these initiatives, but that is not too much. After all, one does not hear much from Canada these days about the degree to which it anticipated American participation in two world wars.

Indeed, it remains to be seen whether domestic embarrassments may not yet outweigh the diplomatic advantages of the Kosygin visit. Ukrainians form a substantial minority in Canada. It has been suggested, for example, that if French is to share with English full language rights throughout Canada, Ukrainians may also claim such status. And Canadian Ukrainians have no love for today's Russia: They protested, after Trudeau's return from Moscow, that he had not intervened on behalf of Ukrainians imprisoned there, and they demonstrated against Kosygin in Ottawa.

This may have some impact upon the politics of the prairie provinces, where Ukrainians abound—a kind of reverse of the De Gaulle visit to Quebec. But the Kosygin march across Canada is not likely to affect Canadian-American relations to any dramatic degree, except possibly by calling attention to the extent to which these are already, and far more seriously, impaired by the Nixon economic policies.

The Canadians, in times of relative peace in the world, are always uneasily conscious of their intimate relationship, strategic, economic and cultural, with the colossus of the south. Trudeau's remark about the difficulty of sleeping with an elephant is very apt, especially when the elephant is as absent-minded as the United States so often is about its bed-fellow. Former Prime Minister Lester Pearson's method of reminding the elephant of Canada's existence was largely through adopting a stance of leadership in the UN. Mr. Trudeau's is through more traditionally nationalist means.

Neither policy, however, has affected the fundamental fact: Canada's independence of Britain was won at the cost of a burdensome degree of dependence upon the United States. This is naturally galling to Canadians, but what makes it worse is that the United States takes it so much for granted. Only when Canada is seriously threatened from without—as was the case when Hitler dominated all continental Europe—do Americans bestir themselves about their northern neighbor. The Canadians can count on that—but it is small comfort when no special consideration is given Canada's economic needs or national sensitivities in time of peace.

Perhaps the Kosygin visit will give Washington some reason to concern itself about Ottawa—not in reprobation, but simply because the event calls attention to Canada in some other context than squabbling about exchange rates and import surcharges. If so, it could be useful for both countries. They need one another.

The Cost of the Textile Quotas

Mr. Nixon's quotas on Japanese textile imports demonstrate his international economic policy at its worst and most dangerous. As a device for generating a maximum of rancor and distrust abroad with a minimum of benefit at home, the new agreement and Mr. Nixon's methods of achieving it could hardly be improved.

This agreement, first of all, was obtained by the cruelest of coercion. Mr. Nixon himself gave great emphasis, very much in public, to his threats and his deadline. Then, on the day when the agreement was intimated, he went off on a triumphal procession to North Carolina. The effect was to flaunt the purpose of his whole endeavor, which has everything to do with the electoral votes of the Carolinas next year and nothing to do with economics.

By staging the whole affair as a victory for himself, he has also built it into a dramatic and deliberate humiliation for the Japanese government. Once again Mr. Nixon has forced the prime minister of Japan to take a step that greatly erodes his political position at home and perhaps hastens his retirement. Since Japan is neither more forgetful nor more forgiving than other nations, we may assume that we have not yet come to the end of this episode.

In negotiating this agreement, Mr. Nixon broke one of the essential rules of political bargaining: He gave the Japanese nothing of value in return. The American statement in Tokyo attempts to suggest that the United States made a concession in lifting the 10 percent import surcharge from the textiles now under the new quotas. That, as the Japanese understand very well, is meaningless. The surcharge has never applied to imports under quota. Further, and worse, the surcharge is paid by the American consumer and its single purpose is to hold down sales. If the goods are limited by restrictive quotas, then the tax is unnecessary.

To listen to the administration's public pronouncements on the subject, one might be misled into believing that the textile agreement promised broad effects on the American economy. Those effects will, in fact, be highly local and probably rather temporary. The agreement principally covers synthetic textiles, and last year the United States imported only 10 percent of the synthetics that it consumed. Most of the domestic industry is very safe, for an interesting reason. This is in part because hair-trigger merchandising in textiles and clothing, and very rapid shifts in styles, make it difficult to import most kinds of goods. Delivery takes too long, and fashion is usually more important to the customer than price.

Mr. Nixon and Sen. Thurmond are now collaborating in an attempt to persuade the mill towns of the South that a magical guarantee has been flung around their payrolls. But some of the plants threatened by imports are marginal operations that will be killed eventually by domestic competition. For their employees, the quotas offer no protection. Instead of quotas, the federal government can more usefully provide direct aid in shifting plants and employees to more productive work.

Only a month ago, Mr. Nixon received an enlightened and balanced report from his special committee on trade policy, headed by Albert L. Williams of IBM. The committee considered the question whether tariffs or quotas are more harmful:

"Almost all of the costs of protection would be greater under a quota than under a tariff. To a greater extent than tariffs, quotas remove the pressure on domestic producers to reduce or avoid increases in prices. And widespread use of quotas would cause serious international repercussions. . . . The inflationary effects of a quota on domestic prices are foreseeable only in direction, not in amount. In contrast, the price effects of a tariff can be forecast with much greater accuracy."

The textile quotas make an interesting example of Mr. Nixon's trade policy. He wishes to expand American exports, and begins by abusing and embarrassing the United States' largest overseas customer. He wishes to increase the competitive edge of American industry, and begins by protecting its least competitive producers. He wishes to fight inflation at home, and invokes the one protectionist device that is more inflationary than the surcharge. The price of 1972 is already running high.

THE WASHINGTON POST.

International Opinion

Allende's Tactics

Although he has expressed his hope that relations with the United States will not be impaired, President Allende must know that, while nationalization is one thing, outright rejection of compensation is quite another. Washington cannot just turn the other cheek. Already a credit for $21 million has been held up. That in itself may seem chickenfeed, but it is symbolic. Now the United States is threatening to reconsider its entire foreign-aid policy. Chile may scorn such threats. But she must know, with her experience, that the world's copper market can function smoothly only through international cooperation.

—From the Times (London).

In the International Edition

Seventy-Five Years Ago

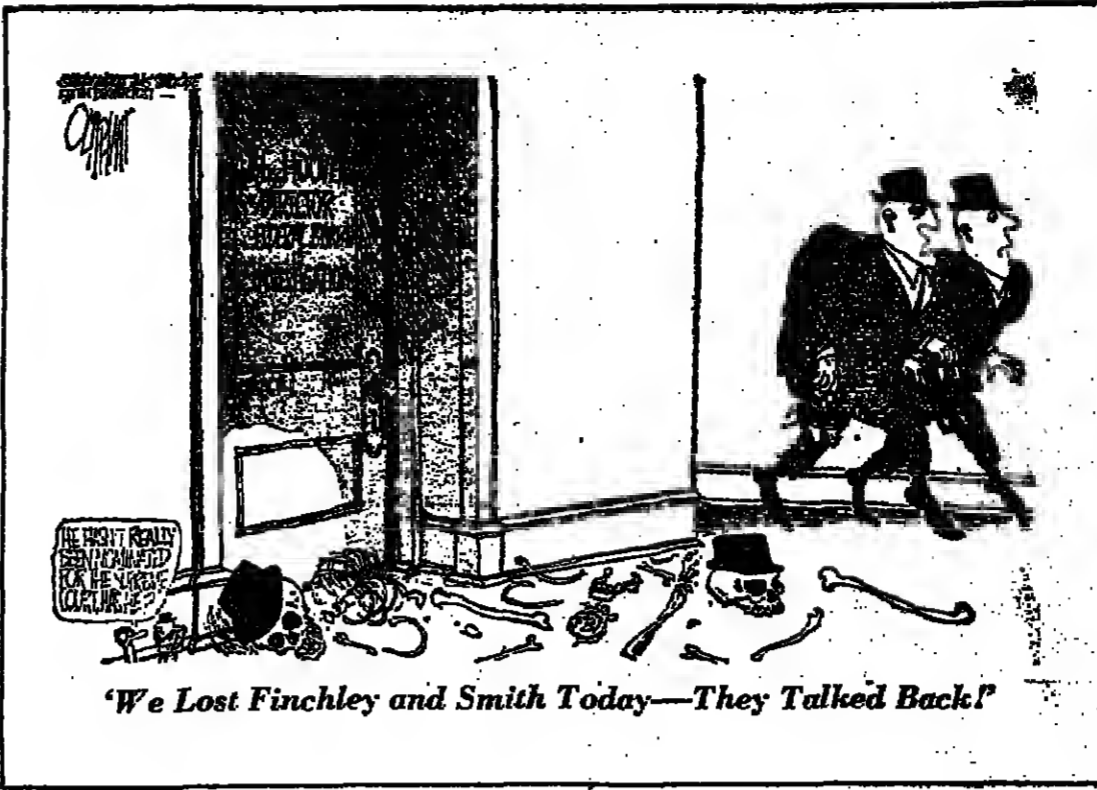

October 19, 1896

PARIS.—The flying machine craze in the United States bids fair to soon eclipse the bicycle craze. One man's plan is to start from the ordinary ground level. The bicycle is ridden along for a short distance, and when a certain degree of speed is attained the air pressure opens the wings and the machine begins to rise from the earth, the wing mechanism being also worked by the bicycle pedals. The hands are left free to manipulate two levers, one which regulates the tilt of the wings, and another which operates a tail of rudder, fixed in a vertical plane behind.

Fifty Years Ago

October 19, 1921

NEW YORK.—It is reported here that Al Seigel, song-writer and actor, intends to sue Jack Dempsey for $100,000, alleging the alienation of the affections of his wife, Miss Bec Palmer, the actress, who attained fame as Broadway's leading demonstrator of the "shimmy." Interviewed at Chicago, Dempsey said that his acquaintance with Miss Palmer was purely professional and that he had engaged her to appear in a vaudeville act. Miss Palmer's attorney says she intends to seek a divorce charging her husband with being outrageously jealous of every man she meets.

'We Lost Finchley and Smith Today—They Talked Back!'

Rising With the Sun

By Joseph Kraft

TOKYO.—Behind the big fuss here in Japan about relations with Communist China and ties to the United States and yen revaluation and limiting textile exports there has been a continuing battle to succeed Eisaku Sato as premier.

Now the issues are sorting themselves out, and the leadership struggle is also emerging with some clarity. While the outcome remains doubtful, events favor Takeo Fukuda, a faithful but weaker exponent of Mr. Sato's pro-American line who is now serving as foreign minister.

The succession issue was originally posed back in 1969 when Mr. Sato was re-elected premier for a fourth time with an overwhelming majority in the Diet for his Liberal Democratic party. At that time he indicated that he would not seek another term—which meant stepping down sometime in 1972.

Normally, the mantle would have passed without difficulty to Mr. Fukuda. He is a senior member—67 years of age—as against the premier's 70 years—of the Liberal Democratic party.

Like the premier, he made his way up from a rural base through a brilliant career in the bureaucracy to an alliance with big business. And he comes out of the same pro-American, anti-Communist faction inside the party which made Mr. Sato premier.

In the past two years, however, the Sato policies have been meeting increasing difficulties. The end of the Cultural Revolution in China plus President Nixon's projected visit there undermined the need for a Japanese administration that could come to terms with Peking as well as with Washington.

New Policy Needed
American demands for currency revaluation and limiting textile exports have shown that Japan cannot keep forever following the old policy of more and more production and more and more exports. And that lesson has been underlined, particularly for Japanese living in cities, by the growth of such urban problems as pollution and overcrowding.

The difficulties have provided rallying points for opposition to Mr. Fukuda within the Liberal Democratic party. One major faction headed by a leader who came up as a politician rather than as a bureaucrat—former Foreign Minister Takeo Miki—lined up against Mr. Fukuda early on.

Last month a far tougher rival emerged, Masayoshi Ohira, a former foreign minister who comes from the bureaucratic wing of the party, began cautiously criticizing the Sato-Fukuda policy on China, and making it known that he was available as a possible premier.

At that point the key man became Kakuei Tanaka, the minister of industry and foreign trade. Mr. Tanaka is a leading figure in the Sato-Fukuda faction. But unlike them, he is a self-made man (real estate and construction) who never graduated from high school. He is relatively young (53) and very ambitious. If Mr. Tanaka decided to have a go at the leadership, Mr. Fukuda would probably go down.

Some Manipulation

In these circumstances, Mr. Sato has been trying to manipulate events to influence the succession. He has been doing some remarkable orchestration around Messrs. Fukuda, Tanaka and Ohira.

Mr. Fukuda has been kept above the battle. His most recent big event was accompanying the emperor and empress on their European tour. Before that he headed a Japanese delegation to the United States and saw President Nixon.

Mr. Tanaka has been thrust into the thick of the textile negotiations. As minister of industry and foreign trade he has had to deal with the angry Japanese producers and union officials. He has also had to handle the tough American representatives. And the message has been conveyed that perhaps it would be better for Mr. Tanaka to acquire more experience before going on to the prime ministership.

As to Mr. Ohira, he has been the target of some splitting tactics by the prime minister. Early in September, the prime minister decided Japan would cosponsor the American resolution favoring a seat for Taiwan as well as Communist China at the United Nations. To handle the Japanese case, the prime minister named to the UN delegation a prominent member of the Ohira faction, Kenji Fukunaga. If nothing else, that appointment shows that the Ohira faction is divided on China.

With the Ohira faction divided and Mr. Tanaka tied up in textiles, the chances that Mr. Fukuda can succeed as premier now look to be fairly good. But the underlying problems confronting Japan—the problem of relations with China; the problem of urban congestion; the problem of an old-fashioned rural-based leadership—remain unresolved. So even if he does make it, Mr. Fukuda will have tremendous difficulty in continuing with the Sato policies.

A Nixon-Brooke Ticket?

Color and Politics

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—Quite apart from the adverse political impact of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's controversial ban on a black vice-presidential running-mate, the front-running Democratic presidential contender was on very solid ground when he said that a Muskie ticket with a Negro on it was "unselectable."

In fact, the results of a polling survey that we conducted here in middle and low-income suburbs of Westchester County on Oct. 11 and 12 offer overwhelming evidence that Muskie would be swamped if he ran with a black Democrat in any way identified with civil rights.

However, our interviews with 266 individual voters, 12 percent of them black, contained this ironic aspect: While either of two prominent black Democrats would almost certainly cost Muskie the election, President Nixon would run stronger with Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, the only Negro in the Senate, than with either Vice-President Spiro Agnew or Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally.

To arrive at these conclusions, we used a sophisticated technique that the professional pollsters call "matched samples," with the help of pollster Oliver Quayle's two top political analysts, Frank Goldsmith and William Conway, plus interviewers headed by Quayle's field superintendent, Eleanor Seaman. We offered our 266 voters varying combinations of tickets, each ticket headed either by President Nixon or Muskie. Thirty-two percent of our sample was by telephoning, 68 percent by face-to-face interviews.

The results for Muskie were breathtaking. Paired with Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa, the Muskie-Hughes ticket buried Nixon-Agnew 56 percent to 38 percent with Gov. George Wallace of Alabama getting 5 percent (a sharp decline for Mr. Nixon in an area he carried in 1968 with 50 percent of the vote against Hubert Humphrey's 44 percent and Wallace's 6 percent).

Nixon-Brooke

But with Mayor Carl Stokes of Cleveland paired with Muskie, that 17 points Muskie-Hughes lead became a 15-point Nixon-Brooke lead. In short, Stokes's cost to Muskie was 32 percentage points. When Stokes was replaced by Roy Wilkins, senior statesman of the civil rights movement and far less militant than Stokes, the Muskie-Wilkins ticket lost to Nixon-Agnew by an only slightly reduced 13 per-

Bernard Levin From London:

'You cannot,' the American political slogan used to run, 'beat something with nothing.' And that is as true in Britain as elsewhere.

LONDON.—Not long ago, one of the most significant political speeches to be made in Britain for some considerable time—years, possibly—was addressed to the local Labor party caucus in Birmingham, England's second city. The speaker was Anthony Crosland, one of the Labor party's most thoughtful and penetrating theorists, the man whose party brief is the environment—clearly a department of great and growing importance—and no future Labor cabinet, under whatever Labor prime minister, could leave Mr. Crosland out; in short, what Mr. Crosland says on the basic questions of politics is something that the Labor party as a whole, and its leaders in particular, would be wise to heed. Yet I am willing to wager that the speech, which went virtually unreported at the time, will go largely unremembered among those to whom it was most urgently addressed.

This is less surprising, though no less sad, than it seems. For Mr. Crosland, though elegantly and courteously, was suggesting that if the Labor party did not take some fairly vigorous steps fairly rapidly, it would be most unlikely to come back to power at all; and it will be remembered that the warnings of Cassandra, though invariably justified, fell on deaf ears.

Mr. Crosland argued that the year and a quarter that the Labor party had spent in opposition, after Mr. Heath's unexpected victory in the 1970 election, had virtually been wasted. The lessons, he said, had not been learned, and indeed no serious examination of where the party went wrong had been undertaken. In the fields of taxation, social services, economic growth, prices and incomes, equality—all subjects on which elections are won and lost—Mr. Crosland pointed out brutally (and no less brutally, for the moderate language he used) that the Labor party simply had not formulated any policy at all. He did not say, though he well might, that the party, which has been calling loudly and for a general election, which they know perfectly well the servatives have no intention holding, would look pretty good if their demand was met.

Now, Mr. Crosland is a man who looks a long way ahead. That is, indeed, the main function of such political theorists. And he has seen quickly that most, and exp more quickly than any, what is happening in Britain under Heath and his Conservatives. When he took office, Mr. Heath declared that he would undertake a revolution in his life. The claim was written as the kind of thing that notorious party leaders say in the morning of their election, to be taken seriously, by those (like Mr. Crosland) eyes to see, it begins to be that Mr. Heath was in a state of mind to do so. He is determined to remain state and its influence, as possible, from the lives of people, and if he were to do so, it would indeed have a revolution.

A Key Passage

It was no coincidence that Crosland, as one of the key passages in his speech, set the question of "select that is, the principle by the state's benefits are distributed equally at all, less of individual circumstances but are given in the measure to those in the need. For selectivity is the key to the Conservative's using to price those who see as the state's demand, the Conservatives' new pension-scheme is only the in a string of measures have been laying more and more responsibility for their welfare on individuals, less responsibility on the state. Mr. Crosland asked his whether it had decided to disapprove of increased "means-testing" for social fits, if not, he asked directly, what was its alternative prospect?

"It seems unlikely that Crosland's audience will ask that question; it is quite to the Labor party that has no answer, though an answer, Labor will certainly lose the next election. Yet on what does the party rest its present case its opposition to the men's Industrial Relations Act—a measure which Mr. Labor government itself bring in, only to be ban by the deadweight oppo to the unions—and on its to the Conservative that "Britain should Common Market—the ap to do which was actually ed by Mr. Wilson and ti government.

"You cannot," the American slogan used to run something with nothing that is as true in Britain where. Whether Mr. revolution is right or wrong or unjust, potentially i or potentially ruinous, my intention to examine what is unchangeable he and his party mean it through if they can. Labor party want to st the Labor party must next election. Mr. Cros of the party's most distant thinkers, has delicately that right now it is not increasing its chances so. Mr. Crosland is r

The International Tribune welcomes letters. Short letters better chance of being listed. All letters are for consideration for your sons. Anonymous letters will not be considered for publication. Writers may request their letters be signed with initials, but will be given to the signed and bearing the complete address.

مجلس إدارة التحرير

The Way the Great Set Their Tables

By Hebe Dorsey

(LHT)—Anybody interested in how the great world set a table should exhibit at Baccarat, me de Paroiss.

how is on such a lavish at even the chandelier. The dis- 1840 until today, and it the Persian 2,500th an- 1926.

of the items in the ex- have been brought from 's museum in Meurthe- le. They include a 15-day Baccarat, made of eads except for the head enterprise of the show plicate of the table set- m's for the shah of Iran s guests at Farse- hand-embroidered Port-

Lady Baccarat on exhibition.

Poet in U.S.

(NY)—YORK, Oct. 18 (NYT)—ular and esteemed Rus- and Andrei Voznesensky, 38, here last night for a one tour of American English easily, he will poems in Russian at 15 s, depending on "image" nation rather than words y his sense.

ing Out in Holland

A Very Fortunate Exception to the Rule

Jon Winth

(SNAAR, the Netherlands)—Aside from some cheeses and very good Nebrlands is not per- known for its food, a few other specialties steune laring, raw young served with chopped on- perokk-paling, smoked, go marvelously well with cold glass of 70-proof, lavored genever gin, but arge Dutch food is cop- sensive and uninteresately, there are some eptions which take their on from France, which e Low Countries for 20 uring the First Republic mple.

Auberge

most outstanding of these ns is generally considered at a banquet meeting during a conference in Quebec, Winston Churchill made one brusque gesture and turned over a table, breaking 34 of the glasses. The exhibition continues through Dec. 31.

There is also the last glass of a series of 25 which belonged to Franklin D. Roosevelt. The glasses were decorated with hand-painted British and American flags (the American one, with 48 stars, took quite some work).

dish but it would have been better with fresh foie gras. A fine roast mullard in a red wine sauce was indicative of what Mr. Gandini can do with game but he is even stronger on meats. The chateaubriand à l'empereur is first tried in butter with crushed peppercorns, removed from the pan and kept hot while baby onions are browned in its place. Tomato purée is added with cognac, and once boiled down and the pan off the fire, thick cream is added together with garlic, rosemary, oregano, thyme and tarragon, and the sauce poured over the meat.

Desserts The desserts are another strong point of the house if its peche flambee à la mode is any example. This rich, mouth-watering preparation is made by caramelize sugar with lemon juice. After flaming with Grand Mar-

Music in London

Colin Davis, Without Fanfare, at Royal Opera

By Henry Pleasants

(LONDON, Oct. 18 (HT))—Colin Davis made his first appearance in his new capacity as musical director of the Royal Opera—the first Englishman ever to hold that post at Covent Garden—conducting, without fanfare, a 10-year-old production of "Pidelio."

It was probably characteristic of him to choose a relatively journeyman assignment rather than crash in, so to speak, with his first new production which will be "The Marriage of Figaro" on Dec. 1. And it was certainly by no design of his that he emerged Friday night as the central figure of this "Pidelio."

It was one of those nights when things on stage do not work out quite as planned, if only because Ludmilla Dvorakova, singing her first London Leonora, was in poor vocal condition. She may have been indispersed, or she may now be paying the price commonly exacted of mezzos who venture into dramatic soprano territory, especially Wagnerian, as she has been doing for the past decade in New York, Berlin, Bayreuth, London and elsewhere.

As Leonora she is no novice. It was her debut role at the Met in 1963. She looks it well, and she plays it well. But her voice, on this occasion, was ill-focused and wayward, apparently reluctant to do its owner's bidding, and unpredictable when doing its own. And so it was Davis, coaxing felicitous detail from an orchestra, giving of his best, who saved the performance from pursuing a pedestrian course. And even Davis found himself taken to task by some of the critics, quite justly, for substituting the long-winded, uneventful "Leonore No. 1" for the customary "Pidelio" overture.

Things had been rather different at the season's opening a week earlier, as "Aida" with the promising but not yet fully accomplished Marina Kriovitch in the title role and Shirley Verrett as Amneris, both new to this 1968 production. Here the focus was on the stage, and especially upon Miss Verrett, rather than on the pit, where rhythms were slack and intonation erratic.

Miss Verrett is well liked here. Her Amneris was applauded, as was her Amneris last season, and merited the applause, although one may favor the more opulent-voiced Italian Amneris of not-so-distant memory—Bruna Castagna, Ede Stignani and Giusetta Simionato. They were neither so slender nor so stoum of figure, to be sure; but one can always assume that Rhadames had his own good reasons for preferring the slave girl to the princess.

Art in Venice

(VENEZIA, Oct. 18 (HT))—Aspects of Graphic Art, Europe, 1971, Museo d'Arte Moderna, Venice, through October.

Works of art done in series are cheaper and thus more available to the art lover, and today more artists than ever make prints. But, as this exhibition shows, the diminished attention to the single and precious work, along with too much activity in p.m.c making and too much exposure, may lead to diminished interest and integrity. Many of the works on view are pat. gleaming, timely, but they have been seen over and over again in contemporary galleries.

Some entries from Eastern Europe have the most content and imaginative drive. Among the Czechs, Sukdolak's fantasy is richest, Suk's is delicate, and it is obvious that Gross is a painter first. Anderle, Brunovsky and Cepelak are concerned with effects of texture and line. Fijalkowski of Poland is funny and direct; Wejman's bicycles seem to be sinister symbols of city life; Erdelak's fairy tales are imaginative if sweet. The Hungarian Kass describes the nightmarcs of our time with fine, fluid lines, and Jurica cuts expressive, multifaceted textures in linoleum.

The most interesting and sincere Italian works include the classic polse of Strazza, some De Vita insect detail, fine clinical burin work by Zigaia.

Alechinsky and Cornelle of France are represented by their usual sprawling childlike whimsy. Loui of Denmark etches exuberant fireworks in black and white, and Nesch of Norway makes intrigues of sea fauna. Smith of England cuts the edges of his peach-colored lithos. "Big Five," by Isell of Switzerland, is somewhat pop-like. And, of course, there are Tapies, Miro, Picasso, Dubuffet, Delauney, Ernst, Matta, Hartung, etc.

There are also Farinati's architectural designs, a sketchbook of Carolo, intricate, fluent drawings by Brucosorri, all ars outstanding. Paolo Veronese himself steals the show with pages filled with quick, intertwined lines, which, despite the flurry of contradictory movement, are ordered and masterful.

The Giorgio Cini Foundation, Island of San Giorgio Maggiore, Venice, has opened its private collection to the public for the first time. The collection is rich in manuscripts, armor, tapestry and artifacts as well as cils by Veronese and lesser Venetians.

Highlights are an array of small pen and wash drawings, by Piazzeta, by both Tiepolos (realistic dogs, eagles and bears by Giardamonte), by the Carracci, Elson and Canova, and atmospheric views in sepia washes of Venice and the island on which the foundation is housed by Canaletto and Guardi.

The show, in the foundation's main building, will be open until Nov. 14 and the hours are the same as these for the drawing show: 10 a.m. to noon and 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

EDITH SCHLOSS.

Six Works of Art Recovered in Italy

(ROME, Oct. 18)—Italian police have announced the recovery of five stolen paintings worth an estimated $96,000. All five were stolen from the Gallery of Modern Art in Brescia Sept. 13 during a wave of art robberies.

Four of the five paintings stolen in Brescia were found in the possession of a Milanese fabric shop owner. He said another man was charged with receiving stolen goods; three others have been charged with the robbery. The fifth painting was found in the home of one of the three.

In another development, an altarpiece which was stolen Friday from the parish church of Pozzale, near Bologna, was quickly recovered and two men arrested.

Smuggling Charged

(ROME, Oct. 18 (AP))—A six-century-old painting by Italian painter Ducio di Buoninsegna has been smuggled out of Italy to England, an Italian art official charged Saturday.

Rodolfo Siviero, head of a ministry office to recover lost art, said the 170 by 87-centimeter painting, showing the Crucifixion, was taken out of Italy within the last two years.

Mr. Siviero said he knew the identity of those holding the painting in London but declined to name them pending an official investigation.

AUTHORS WANTED BY N.Y. PUBLISHER

Leading book publisher seeks manuscripts of all types: fiction, non-fiction, poetry, scholarly and religious works, etc. New authors welcomed. Send for free booklet. H.C. VAN NESTER, 216 W. 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019, U.S.A.

NEW COLLECTION
MARIE-MARTINE
8 rue de Sévres, PARIS-6e.

MARVELOUS MINK COAT
Export Price: $1,100
MM
Couture
13 Rue de Valenciennes, Paris (10e)
Tel.: OPE 27-50

INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES

BILINGUAL SYSTEMS PROGRAMMER

Growth-oriented United States software company requires systems programmer with a working knowledge in English, French and, if possible, Italian. This person will be trained in the United States and reside full time in Europe. Experience on I.B.M. 360/40 or larger 128-K and strong D.O.S. required. Salary $12,000 per year. Qualified applicants will be interviewed in Paris, November 15th thru November 20th, 1971. Send (return) resume outlining job experience and present salary with picture to:

DIRECTOR OF PERSONNEL
BENNER TEA COMPANY
P.O. BOX 1,488, DUBLINGTON, IOWA 52001, U.S.A.

FIELD ENGINEER

pany is an internationally nary machinery manufac- d in Southern California. is seeking qualified field to work at our overseas d States customer plants. responsible for all phases insulation and start-up of chinery used in the metal dustry.

is or married couple with n. Requires engineering d shop manufacturing and field erection experi- e able to communicate t write) in the English fringe benefits (which vention while on field t) and growth opportu- nced applicants should cte along with salary re- ur home office shown. If applicants will be con- er by mail or and in

HUNTER NEERING CO., INC
1 Columbia Avenue, California 92577, U.S.A.
Opportunity Employer

THE INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES

appears every TUESDAY, THURSDAY, SATURDAY.

s an advertisement your nearest Herald representative or Mr. ro, 21 Rue de Berri, Tel.: 225-28-90 or Tel.: 225-503.

R.J. BROWN AND ASSOCIATES

consultants-engineering-construction

REQUIRES

GRADUATE ENGINEERS

for permanent employment as:

- Offshore pipeline engineers with extensive experience in lay large operation. Experience should include:
 - Design and analysis of pipe laying methods and equipment
 - Analysis of suspended pipelines
 - Lay barge stinger configuration
 - Lay barge instrumentation and control systems
 - Actual operational responsibility on a modern lay barge.
- 1 mechanical engineer with experience in the design and manufacture of pipe handling, pipe making or pipe coating equipment. This is a senior position requiring ability to supervise total industrial plant construction projects.

Work location: Rotterdam.
All correspondence confidential.

Please reply to: PERSONNEL MANAGER

R.J. BROWN AND ASSOCIATES
"Overbeekhuis"
2 Marconistraat, Rotterdam, Netherlands.

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

CREATIVITY - DECISIONS - GOOD JUDGMENT ADMINISTRATION EXECUTIVE

If you are looking for a man with these qualities and a challenging position to offer you may want to contact me.

SR, VP of International U.S. company, versed in all aspects of planning, operation and administration looking for position preferably in Europe. Age 48. Electrical Engineer by training, heavy EEP experience. Major languages: English, German, Spanish, understanding of French.

Please reply to: Box D 2,833, Herald, Paris.

PROVEN TOP EXECUTIVE

Experience: 3 years external auditing international company, 7 years medium size organization in the area of sales. Present post held for the last 3 years. General manager, University Institute in Economics School. Age 59. Languages: English, Spanish, French. Seeks challenging position where creativity, experience and motivation can contribute to growing company.

Please write: Box D 2,833, Herald, Paris.

GENERAL MANAGER JAPAN

We are seeking a professional manager for our well-established subsidiary, manufacturing and marketing consumer products. The successful applicant will direct more than 300 employees in these activities. In addition to his general management skills he will have had extensive experience in the marketing of consumer products, preferably with some of that experience in Japan. Proficiency in Japanese highly desirable. Aptitude for learning customs and language essential.

This position merits an attractive salary and extensive fringe benefits. Reply in detail to:

Vice President International
Box D 2,833, Herald Tribune, Paris.

JOBS AVAILABLE IN EUROPE

Here is a comprehensive list of this week's best opportunities for Managers, Marketing and Public Relations Executives, OPA's, Engineers, Data Processing, Lawyers and other professional and technical personnel in Europe. Career advancement openings in England, Germany, France, Italy and Scandinavia are available for executives prepared to accept the challenge of international operations.

For your air mail copy of today's opportunities in Europe, send $3 check or money order to:

Executives International S.A.
21A West Heath Road, London, NW3, England.

YOU ARE LOOKING FOR A POSITION IN FRANCE WE HAVE THE KNOW-HOW TO HELP YOU ON THE EXECUTIVES FRENCH MARKET

LET US MEET!

GEORGE V ORIENTATION, 7 Rue Marbeuf, Paris (8e). — 226-50-26.

PARIS ART GALLERIES

RIGHT BANK

(1) GALLERIE ARIEL
148 Bd Haussmann (8e) 227-13-09
PAINTINGS FROM THE GALLERY

(2) GALLERIE EMANUEL DAVID
14 Avenue Malignon (8e), 229-94-00.
YOUNG PAINTERS

(3) GALLERIE ENE BROUET
104 Pde St-Honore, 9e - 250-02-27
CONTEMPORARY MASTERS

(4) WALLY F FINDLAY
GALLERIES INTERNATIONAL
New York, Chicago, Palm Beach, Paris
3 Av. Malignon (8e), 229-73-74.
SEBASTIEN
Daily October 30.
IMPRESSIONISTS.
POST-IMPRESSIONISTS MASTERS
Daily 10-1 & 2-7 Mon. thru Sat.

(5) GALLERIE HERVE
18 Avenue Malignon (8e) 229-55-56.
Permanently: Carot, Depas, Beaudou, Lafont, Fichon, Pissarro, Courmette, Richier, Rodin, Vlammck, Vuillard, Wolschul.

(6) KNOEDLER
28bis Faubourg St-Honore - 225-58-78
DE KOONING, Lithographs

(7) GALLERIE L. 22, 25 E de la Pompe
224-21-32. Contemporary Masters.

(8) GALLERIE DE PARIS
14 Pl. Francfort (8e) - 228-62-20.
MICHEL CHEY, as from October 20.

(9) GALLERIE DENISE REE
RIGHT BANK, 124 Rue La Boétie-8e.
220-23-17. GALLERIE, Oct. 20-Nov. 20.

RIGHT BANK

(4) GALLERIE NIVE DROITE
3 Rue de Duras, Paris-8e - 226-22-45.
Charles, Paul de Gae, Marcel MOURAUD, Hlms Pan, Raynaud, STAMPELLI, until October 20.

(18) GALLERIE TAMENAGA
18 Avenue Malignon, 229-90-11.
Permanently: August, Eabandier, Bonrdouche, Chazary, Fusco, Guirmand, Works by: Pouilla, Marie Laurencin, Gille, Van Donge, Humick SANDL, until November 13.

(14) GALLERIE URBAN
18 Faubourg Saint-Honore - 223-22-22
From Robert to Louis LITONIS, Paris.

(7) GALLERIE FELIX VERCEL
8 Avenue Malignon (8e) - 226-22-19.
In exclusivity: VENARD, YANKEE, FAURELLE, EFEO, BOUTSOUS, SENICKI

(8) GALLERIE VERBIERE
15 Avenue Malignon (8e), 228-28-38
Mayer, Fautsch, Fernand, center for Contemporary Tapestries, MARC-PHYTT, Tapestries, until Oct. 21.

(2) VISION NOUVELLE
6 Pl. des Etoiles-Omn (10e) 224-22-53
Engravings & Lithographs by MIRO.
Engravings by CLAVES

LEFT BANK

(20) LA DEMEURE
8 Pl. Saint-Sulpice (6e) 220-02-74.
FRASSINON - Tapestries.

(19) Galerie ESTERLADA 8
6 R. St-Julien-le-Pauvre. 225-57-22. (2-10)

(27) Galerie Paul FACCHETTI
17 Rue de Lille-7e - LIT. 71-80.

(23) GALLERIE FRAMOND
R. des Saints-Pères (6e), Tel.: 649-49-80.
Beaudou, Bora, de Coninck, Estava, Garbell, Legor, Pissarro, Poliakoff.

(12) GRAYVREAU R. de Seine (courtyard),
226-05-44 Original modern engravings.

(22) LA HUNE, 170 Bld. Saint-Germain,
248-35-35 Open every day till midnight.
Original modern Ribos & engravings.

(2) MIDNA LISA, 32 R. de Valenciennes,
248-17-25 MODERN ART, NATURE ART.

(8) GAL LA FOCADE, 157 Bd. St-Germain,
248-25-26. 248-00-14. Contemporary Engrav., Garbell, Legor, Pissarro, Poliakoff.

(22) GALLERIE DENISE REE
Left Bank, 124 Rue La Boétie, 222-77-87. INDIANA ALBUM.

(17) GALLERIE DARTHEA EFFYER
8 & 6 R. Jacques-Cadot (6e), 222-76-41.
Contemporary Paintings & Sculpture

(28) GALLERIE 3 - 2
6 Rue Vissouz (8e) - 225-20-25
FANTASTIC, SURREALISTIC, SCOTTIO.

(12) SCULPTURE GALLERY
208, Bld. St-Germain, 244-17-52.
25 CONTEMPORARY SCULPTORS.

(22) GALLERIE LUCIE WELLS
6 Rue Beaumarchais (6e) - 222-77-48
Homage to PICASSO - Oct. 20-Nov. 15.

New York Stock Exchange Trading

Table of New York Stock Exchange trading data, including columns for stock symbols, prices, and volume.

Table of New York Stock Exchange trading data, including columns for stock symbols, prices, and volume.

Table of New York Stock Exchange trading data, including columns for stock symbols, prices, and volume.

All these securities having been sold, this announcement of prices as a matter of record only.

$25,000,000

International Standard Electric Corporation

9% Sinking Fund Debentures due 1986

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Lazard Freres & Co.

Table listing international banks and financial institutions, including names like Algemeene Bank Nederland N.V., Banco Commerciale Italiana, etc.

Table of New York Stock Exchange trading data, including columns for stock symbols, prices, and volume.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Securities Underwriter Limited advertisement, including contact information and a logo.

October 19, 1971

Parley on Far Crisis

Attention Centers Annually Comment

Carl Gewirtz

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—A study aimed at laying out a two-month-old currency...

meetings at the Organization for Economic Cooperation...

discussions were over- by U.S. Treasury Secretary...

financial sources were not that such a development...

officials have protested action of the surcharge...

President Nixon's dollar program, estimating...

tempt to neutralize the program on one of the...

for the first time, the barred from even entering...

Japan Registers Record Monthly Surplus in Trade

TOKYO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Japan registered a record monthly trade surplus of $597 million...

September exports totaled $2.1 billion...

Both sides must fully face up to the fact that a new era is upon us...

ers Press to Seek a EEC Stand

Oct. 18 (UPI)—The man Bankers Association...

the government must open solution without change in U.S. actions...

After Textile Pact Japan Industry Files Suit, Claims Constitution Violated

TOKYO, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Japan Textile Federation...

Shinzo Oya, president of the federation, said the suit...

Industry sources said federation lawyers are meeting to decide on tactics...

The federation meeting also decided that the industry would, for its part...

Political Backing Earlier, Hajima Fukuda, chairman...

At the last Diet session, parliament passed a unanimous resolution...

However, opposition parties are reported to be considering...

No Double Standard WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Undersecretary of State...

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—Undersecretary of State...

Both sides must fully face up to the fact that a new era is upon us...

Japan Registers Record Monthly Surplus in Trade

TOKYO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Japan registered a record monthly trade surplus...

September exports totaled $2.1 billion...

Both sides must fully face up to the fact that a new era is upon us...

ers Press to Seek a EEC Stand

Oct. 18 (UPI)—The man Bankers Association...

Amex Eyes National Stock Market Wall St. Prices Drop As Wariness Continues

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (NYT)—The American Stock Exchange...

The plan was presented to the Securities & Exchange Commission...

The new market would electronically link all market-makers...

However, profits margins in many production lines are still under pressure...

Volume was paced by a steady improvement in sales of textile fibers...

Part of the rationale for this position is that trading in the regional markets does not receive...

The Amex proposal would, in effect, bring the regional exchanges...

It was understood that the Amex was prepared to go forward...

It was understood that the Amex plan also would involve the establishment...

Depository Proposal WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—A corporation to serve...

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—New housing starts fell...

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—New housing starts fell...

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—New housing starts fell...

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—New housing starts fell...

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—New housing starts fell...

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—New housing starts fell...

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—New housing starts fell...

Du Pont Profit Rises 16.7% in Quarter

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 18 (Reuters)—E. I. du Pont...

DeSoto Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Monsanto Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Eastern Gas & Fuel Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Olin Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Penwalt Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Potlatch Forests Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Riegel Paper Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Smith (A.O.) Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Todd Shipyards Second Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Western Bancorp. Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Pacific Lighting Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Tex. Eastern Transmission Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Interna'l. Min. & Chem. Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Interna'l. Min. & Chem. Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Interna'l. Min. & Chem. Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

Interna'l. Min. & Chem. Third Quarter Revenue (millions)...

U.S. Surcharge Slows Bank Pact With Switzerland

GENEVA, Oct. 18 (NYT)—The 10 percent U.S. surcharge on imports...

Analysts attributed the unanticipated trading to caution by investors...

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 2.40 to 872.43...

Studebaker Worthington dropped 6 5/8 to 45 1/2...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

U.S. Surcharge Slows Bank Pact With Switzerland

GENEVA, Oct. 18 (NYT)—The 10 percent U.S. surcharge on imports...

Analysts attributed the unanticipated trading to caution by investors...

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 2.40 to 872.43...

Studebaker Worthington dropped 6 5/8 to 45 1/2...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Among transportation issues reporting improved third quarter profits...

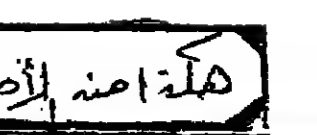

Other companies reporting improved profits included Avon...

Money Grows Faster at the BPP because it works harder! Deposit Account - 5 1/2% to 6 1/2%

SOLVE THIS PROBLEM: INFLATION-6% INCOME-5% CAPITAL LOSS-1%

OFFERING VALUE LINE'S 40 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE IN INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT

Learjet Yours for Charter... From European Cities

New York Stock Exchange Trading

Table of stock market data including high, low, and volume for various stocks. Includes sections for '1971 - Stocks and Bonds', '1970 - Stocks and Bonds', and '1971 - Stocks and Bonds'.

INTERNATIONAL FUNDS

Table listing various international funds with columns for fund name, share price, and other details. Includes categories like 'CAPITAL INTERNATIONAL', 'CREDIT SUISSE', and 'FUND OF AUSTRALASIA GROUP'.

U.S. Commodity Prices

Table of U.S. commodity prices for various goods such as wheat, corn, and soybeans, with columns for item name, price, and date.

Market Summary

Summary table of market activity including stock indices, volume, and price movements for various sectors.

SOYBEAN MEAL

Table of soybean meal prices for different grades and quantities, including columns for item name, price, and date.

1971 - Stocks and Bonds

Table of stock and bond prices for the year 1971, including high, low, and volume data.

Advertisement for A.T. Kearney & Company, Inc. Management Consultants, featuring the Brussels Office and Mr. Arthur L. Kelly, Vice President.

Market Summary

Summary table of market activity including stock indices, volume, and price movements for various sectors.

SOYBEAN MEAL

Table of soybean meal prices for different grades and quantities, including columns for item name, price, and date.

1971 - Stocks and Bonds

Table of stock and bond prices for the year 1971, including high, low, and volume data.

Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner Smith Hubbard Westervelt Mottelay Royal Securities and Lionel D. Edie and Co.

What kind of financial house is that?

The new kind. The kind we believe major international investors are all going to need in the future—and which many are using advantageously right now.

NEW METHODS AND OLD IDEAS: YOUR DILEMMA TODAY

Since the time of the Dukes of Lombardy, the methods of international finance have been changing at an ever-increasing pace. There has probably been more innovation in the past ten years than in the previous hundred.

Old ideas are under a lot of pressure. Investors and advisers alike have to decide which of yesterday's must be abandoned, and which must be cherished. And today's markets are so dynamic that inactivity counts as a decision. Like any other decision, if it is a mistake it can expect no mercy from the market.

Unless you are quite certain that your funds, and your advisers, are hitting exactly the right balance between innovation and caution, you are likely to find the following resumé of Merrill Lynch's international activities interesting—and perhaps rewarding—reading.

THE MERRILL LYNCH STORY: OR HOW TO GROW TREES FROM GRASS ROOTS

Merrill Lynch's usefulness to the institutional investor in Europe has grown directly from its skills in serving such an enormous and varied public in America—where its 14 million customers represent every kind of investor, including many leading institutions.

Consider three things about Merrill Lynch:

SCALE: The fact of having so many customers, so widely dispersed, has involved Merrill Lynch in its huge investment in electronics, both to process transactions and to store, retrieve and communicate information and opinions.

INNOVATION: Selling stocks on such a broad scale seemed eccentric to some Wall Street traditionalists when Merrill Lynch began.

They wondered, too, about having a formal training school for account executives—and then paying them on a salary basis rather than a direct commission. Many Merrill Lynch practices, such as the detailed annual report sent to every customer, were alien to the traditional financial world. Innovation is in Merrill Lynch's bloodstream.

CUSTOMER ORIENTATION: Consistently, Merrill Lynch's growth has been in response to customers' needs. It is, if you like, a marketing attitude rather than a manufacturing one.

And it is precisely the attitude behind Merrill Lynch's recent strides in international finance.

Merrill Lynch has taken an unusual route to a position of importance in the small world of international finance, but it has brought with it a freshness and strength which we think are well suited to today's challenges.

A MERRILL LYNCH INTERNATIONAL CHECK LIST:

Here, in brief, is a description of ten of the companies whose services you might use. Some of these services are probably not available at all through your present advisers. Others may currently require you to make laborious individual arrangements for different services.

1. MERRILL LYNCH, PIERCE, FENNER & SMITH INC.

The world's biggest stock and commodities broker. The size and strength of the New York base provide, not only stability, but strong management and rigorously enforced standards of selection, training and business conduct in all Merrill Lynch activities.

2. MERRILL LYNCH OF CANADA AND ROYAL SECURITIES LTD.

Through its association with Royal Securities, Merrill Lynch has become a prime dealer in Canadian Government securities, and now has 20 offices in Canada—including a section of the Securities Research Division based in Toronto.

3. HUBBARD, WESTERVELT AND MOTTELAY, INC.

Through this, Merrill Lynch's real estate financing subsidiary, you can arrange U.S. and Canadian sale-and-lease-back deals, joint ventures, mortgages and private placements.

Any Merrill Lynch executive, in any office, will put you in touch with the appropriate people.

4. MERRILL LYNCH INTERNATIONAL LTD.

Its president (a Swiss) has headquarters in Geneva; one executive vice-president in London. But your Merrill Lynch executive in any of 24 offices throughout Europe, the Middle East, the Pacific and South America can plug you in directly, through his private high-speed wire, to all the information and opinion retrieval equipment and expertise of Merrill Lynch.

5. MERRILL LYNCH SECURITIES UNDERWRITERS LTD.

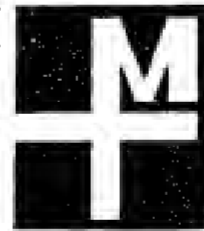

Its president works out of Paris and it handles all new Euro-security issues for Merrill Lynch International in Europe. It has a major role in creating new and imaginative financing and international banking activities, and it handles all Merrill Lynch's offshore fund activities.

MLSU has already established a considerable reputation for strength and selectivity in managing, underwriting and retailing offerings of Euro-securities. Significantly, each new issue is checked out by both Merrill Lynch's Securities Research Division in New York, and by the MLSU men on the spot to be sure the issue has the right feel to it.

6. MERRILL LYNCH TRADING CO. S.A.

This is the Corporation headquartered in Geneva which makes its communication and information facilities available to MLSU to ensure contacts with the other Eurobond traders. Merrill Lynch Trading Co. is an agent of MLSU.

Weekly lists of estimated negotiated prices are available through MLTC—and these lists provide a valuable contribution to the market in these bonds. They provide a statistical comparison of interest rates, maturity dates, prices and yields on some 150 issues—long-term debentures, convertible bonds and short-term notes. And it is the Geneva office which distributes to each Merrill Lynch executive, throughout Europe a daily quotation list of "straight" bonds. The aftermarket in Eurobonds is not maintained so much through trading on one or more European exchanges where a given Bond may be listed but by the main specialised traders. These traders make markets in many outstanding Eurobond issues and are in constant telephone and telex communication with each other. MLSU for this communication function uses the services of Merrill Lynch Trading Co. S.A., Geneva.

MERRILL LYNCH, PIERCE, FENNER & SMITH
International Ltd.

ASSOCIATED COMPANIES: EUROPE: LONDON 25 DAVIES STREET—HAMILTON HOUSE, 1 TEMPLE AVENUE (INSTITUTIONAL OFFICE)—PLANTATION HOUSE, MINCING LANE (COMMODITY OFFICE)
EDINBURGH 48A QUEEN STREET ROME VIA LAZIO 26 MILAN VIA ULRICO HOEPLI 7 MADRID TORRE DE MADRID 9-4 BARCELONA AVENIDA GENERALISIMO FRANCO 534 ATHENS 17 VALAORITOU STREET
FRANKFURT BOCKENHEIMER LANDSTRASSE 8 HAMBURG REESENDAMM/JUNGFERNSTIEG 3 MUNICH DIENERSTRASSE 21 DUSSELDORF KOE-CENTRE BUILDING, KOENIGSALLE 30
BRUSSELS 52 RUE DES COLONIES AMSTERDAM 107 WEESPERSTRAAT PARIS 96 AVENUE D'ENNA CANNES CARLTON HOTEL
GENEVA 31 RUE DU RHONE LUGANO VIA BALESTRA 27 ZURICH MUEHLEBACHSTRASSE 25

ASIA: TOKYO KASUMIGASEKI BUILDING, CHIYODA-KU HONG KONG 2 ICE HOUSE STREET MANILA A.I.U. BUILDING, AYALA AVENUE, MAKATI, RIZAL
LATIN AMERICA: CARACAS APARTADO 3419, MARACAIBO APARTADO 1343, ESTADO ZULIA PANAMA 200 VIA ESPANA, PANAMA CITY BUENOS AIRES SARMIENTO 309, 4 PISO
MIDDLE EAST: BEIRUT STARCO NORTH BUILDING KUWAIT KUWAIT INVESTMENT COMPANY BUILDING, SAFAT SQUARE

Services relating to research and transmission and execution of orders discussed in this advertisement are provided by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc. New York and are available outside the United States through Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith International Ltd. and its subsidiaries.

7. MLSU RETAIL UNIT

A group of specialists who know how to make full use of Merrill Lynch's scale and retail strengths when large blocks are to be sold. Whether they are U.S. securities or securities from other countries.

We believe their skills make Merrill Lynch unusually effective in pricing, and unusually effective in distributing, such blocks.

8. MERRILL LYNCH (BROKERS AND DEALERS) LTD.

Based in London, this is the very active commodity futures area of Merrill Lynch International. It maintains the worldwide Merrill Lynch policy of never "taking a position" in a commodity itself.

In their highly specialised fields, the commodities specialists of the London team have a reputation for high professionalism. They are in frequent contact with the specialists of the Merrill Lynch Commodity Division in New York—and, of course, with the International Commodity markets in the U.S., London, and other countries.

There is an account executive in every Merrill Lynch International office who will be glad to make the commodity services of the MLBD specialists available to you.

9. LIONEL D. EDIE AND CO. INTERNATIONAL LTD.

Another Merrill Lynch affiliate, Lionel D. Edie Inc., already supervises 5 billion dollars worth of private and institutional accounts on an advisory or discretionary basis.

This is a highly specialised and personal service, where each counsellor has only a small number of portfolios to watch over. Lionel D. Edie International, headquartered in Geneva, is available through any Merrill Lynch office. Its dealings, by the way, are not confined either to Merrill Lynch as broker, or to U.S. stocks—most of its European, Middle East, Pacific and South American clients have a wide spread of international investments.

10. EUROPEAN RESEARCH UNIT

Centred in Geneva along with the Lionel D. Edie International Operation is the Geneva section of the Securities Research Division of Merrill Lynch. (The other sections are in Tokyo, Los Angeles, Toronto and New York.)

BEHIND ALL THE INNOVATIONS: IMPLACABLE CAUTION

Having looked through this list, you may feel that Merrill Lynch is quite unlike some of your present arrangements. This is no accident. Merrill Lynch believes that financial services are going to change. That you are going to demand more and more, one fully-rounded financial house to provide a multiplicity of services.

This is the end toward which the company is working, and the reason for some of the activities which may have surprised you.

But behind all the innovations there is the massive caution of the firm's own conduct of its affairs. This caution may have looked unadventurous, even uncharacteristic, until last year, when a cloud of uncertainty hung over the U.S. financial community.

Merrill Lynch has decided, firmly, which of yesterday's ideas must go, and which must stay. What must go is anything which impedes giving you the financial services you need. What must stay is the belief that all this activity must be firmly managed from a strong centre of financial stability.

Foreign Stock Indexes

Table with columns: Country, Today, Prev., High, Low. Includes Amsterdam, Brussels, Frankfurt, London, Milan, Paris, Sydney, Tokyo, Zurich.

Eurodollars

Table with columns: Rate, Bid, Asked, Changed. Includes 1 Day, 1 Month, 3 Months, 6 Months, 1 Year.

For Banks and Financial Institutions we maintain NET TRADING MARKETS in all Swiss and American OTC Stocks. BANK WISSENER & CO. LTD. 8023 ZURICH SWITZERLAND

ELLIS AG ZURICH Weinstplatz 6 Phone: 37 41 47, Telex: 53 641 BEOBZLZ FOR: Stocks-Eurobonds-Eurodeposits

International Bonds Traded in Europe

Table with columns: Bond Name, Price, Yield. Includes Dollar Bonds, Floating Rates, Convertible Bonds, and Bond Trade Index.

European Markets

Table with columns: Market Name, Index Name, Value, Change. Includes Amsterdam, Brussels, London, Zurich.

American Stock Exchange Trading

Large table with columns: Stock Name, Price, Change. Includes various US stocks like IBM, GE, Ford, etc.

MARINE MIDLAND BANK - NEW YORK

is pleased to announce the formation of INTERNATIONAL MARINE BANKING CO. LTD. with offices on the 6th floor at 40 Basinghall Street, London EC2P 2DY

London

Table with columns: Stock Name, Price, Change. Includes Anglo-Amco, Anglo-Amin, Anglo-Ind, etc.

Current, Deposit and Fixed term accounts FINANZ- & INVESTMENT BANK AG. Stockstrasse 33-3022 Zrich, Switzerland. Tel.: (01) 36 44 91.

All of these shares having been sold, this announcement appears at a matter of record only.

Advertisement for Massachusetts Financial Development Fund, Inc. featuring the MFD logo, '12,000,000 Shares', and a detailed description of the fund's investment strategy and management.

Toronto Stocks

Table with columns: Stock Name, Price, Change. Includes various Canadian stocks like Inco, Bell, etc.

Mutual Funds

Table with columns: Fund Name, Price, Change. Includes various mutual funds like Fidelity, etc.

Montreal Stocks

Table with columns: Stock Name, Price, Change. Includes various Quebec stocks like Alcan, etc.

Advertisement for Universal Telephone, Inc. featuring the company logo and contact information for sales and service.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated. Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis Incorporated. Dean Witter & Co. Incorporated.

American Stock Exchange Trading

Table of American stock exchange trading with columns for stock symbols, prices, and volume. Includes sections for 'I - J', 'K - L', 'M', and 'N'.

Table of international stock exchange trading with columns for stock symbols, prices, and volume. Includes sections for 'O - P', 'Q - R', 'S - T', 'U - V', 'W - X', and 'Y - Z'.

Advertisement for Smith, Barney & Co. featuring '70 Exchange' and 'European Gold Markets' with contact information for Peter J. Tanous.

Advertisement for Knut G. Jorgensen, Joachim K. Moser, and Peter S. Stabell, directors of institutional sales, with contact information for Halle & Stieglitz, S.A.R.L.

Large advertisement for 'KINGDOM OF DENMARK' 7% Deutsche Mark Bearer Bonds of 1971, listing various banks and financial institutions.

BOOKS

THE POEMS OF DYLAN THOMAS

Edited with an introduction and notes by Daniel J. ... New Directions, 291 pp. $6.

Reviewed by Anatole Broyard

A FEW years before he died, I met Dylan Thomas in Greenwich Village. We were both on our way to the Cherry Lane Theater where he was to give a reading of his poems. He was with Oscar Williams, who introduced us, and timidly, because I was awed by Thomas, I asked him why he never read any of his earlier works. I named my three favorites: "If My Head Hurt a Hair's Foot," "Light Breaks Where No Sun Shines" and "After the Funeral." He pondered this for a moment, then said: "You know, I think I will." During the reading, even he seemed unusually moved, and you might almost say "there wasn't a dry eye in the house." To each of us in the audience it seemed as if Thomas had arrived in the nick of time, bringing us a message we badly needed. He was like a downpour after a long drought; we were parched with the poetry of our times, a drone of alliteration and a hurrying of hypermeted words hurdling the meter like tired horses, such a faded upholstery of tears, stars, bells, bones, flood and blood... A thud of consonants in tongue, light, dark, dust, seed, wound and wind.

Mr. Broyard is a New York Times book reviewer.

Best Seller

The New York Times This analysis is based on data obtained from more than 200 stores in 45 U.S. cities. It is the right-hand column, necessarily representative of the list.

FICTION

- 1 The Day of the Jackal, Forsyth
2 The Executioner, Haldeman
3 Whistle, Haldeman
4 The Other, Tryon
5 The Shadow of the Lynx, Folz
6 Their Was the Kingdom, DeLortel
7 The Drift, Milder
8 Message From Malaga, MacLure
9 Beyond Freedom and Dignity, Skinner
10 The Sensuous Man, "M"

GENERAL

- 1 Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, Brown
2 The Gift Horse, Eber
3 Any Woman Can, Beards
4 With Marx or Jesus, Bevel
5 The Female Eunuch, Great
6 Beyond Freedom and Dignity, Skinner
7 The Sensuous Man, "M"
8 Living Well Is the Best Revenge, Tompkins
9 The Re-Expeditions, Meyer
10 "Do You Sincerely Want to Be Rich" - Raw, Fay & Hodgson

CROSSWORD

By Wi

Crossword puzzle grid with clues for Across and Down. Clues include: 1 Mystery writer John Dickson, 5 Mementos of abrasions, 10 Dillon, 14 To whom, in, 15 Proof mark, 16 Essay name, 17 Informal awards for poor bombing, 20 Coastal ship of Bombay, 21 Reliance, 22 Tarzan's foster-parent, 23 Preminger, 24 Criticize severely, 28 Aaron's output, 32 Walks about, 33 Family people, 34 Barn area, 35 Formal act, 36 Sweater material, 37 Clergyman, 38 Resentment, 39 Die secret work, 40 Incantation, 41 Word to departing traveler, 43 Roll out the, 44 Woodwinds, 45 Coin of Peru, 46 Worthless, 49 Immature, 54 What a girl gets when she buys cheap hose, 57 Evil Prefix, 58 Siouan Indian, 59 Put-on, 60 Mountains, 61 English novelist, 62 Mind-manners, 19 Localities, 20 Insect par, 21 African, 26 Performer, 27 Golf gadget, 28 Brought to force, 29 Earth colk, 30 High-min, 31 Peasantry, 33 Examines, 36 Freedom access, 37 Shower t. Abbr., 39 Gentle h, 40 Western, 42 Teacakes, 43 Paris ext, 45 One kind, 46 Hottanto, 47 School e, 48 Nervous swallow, 50 El cigar, 51 Hay to, 52 -ms, 53 Gives th over, 55 Way: A, 56 Exclaims

BLONDIE

BRIDGE

By Alan Truscott

Psychic signals, though little known, have interesting possibilities. The diagramed deal is an example. After West has opened the bidding with one diamond, North doubles and follows with a spade bid. East's one-heart bid shows nothing but heart length and a jump by South to two spades, a game invitation, was accepted by North.

South studies the dummy he has to consider a problem. Suppose West has a five-card diamond suit for his opening and continues the suit. But he sees a solution: he can ruff the third round of diamonds with a spade honor in dummy, preventing East from scoring a small trump. The risk that the four missing trumps will all be in one hand seems worth taking.

Table with columns for NORTH, WEST (D), EAST, SOUTH and card suits (C, S, H, T) with corresponding card counts and symbols.

Both sides are vulnerable. The bidding:

Bidding table with columns for West, North, East, South and rows for Pass, 1♣, 1♥, 2♠.

West led the diamond king.

Solution to Previous Puzzle

Grid for the solution to the previous puzzle with letters in a crossword format.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"YOUR WATCH MUST HAVE STOPPED! MY STOMACH IS NEVER WRONG!"

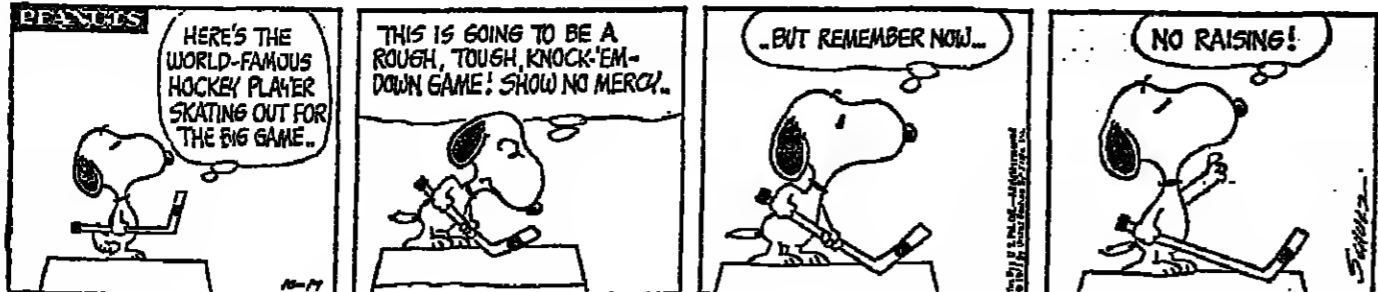

JUMBLE - that scrambled word game

Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

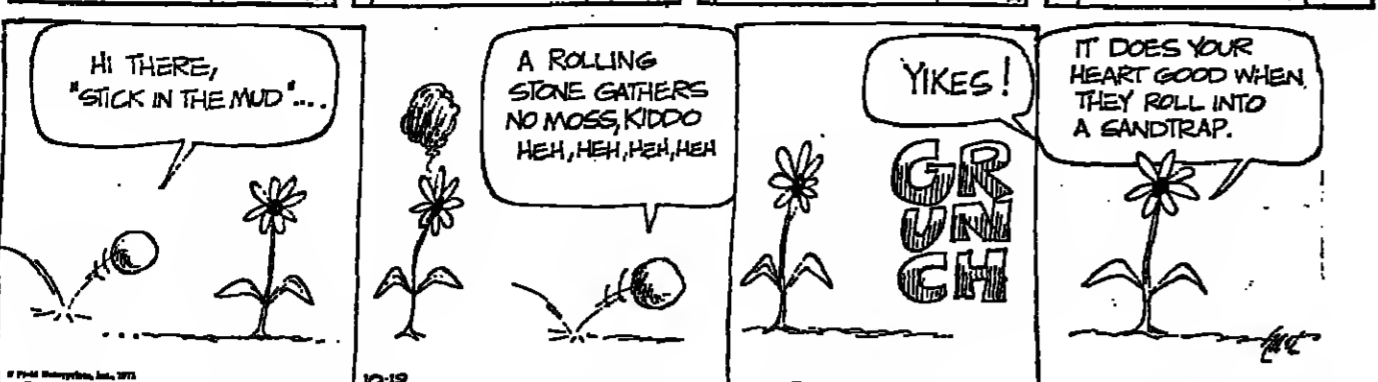

Jumble word game grid with words NORPE, QASUW, YUBILS, UNJELC and a cartoon illustration of a man with a watch.

Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon. Print the SURPRISE ANSWER here. Jumbles: WOMEN PRUNE GAINED VIRTUE. Answer: Where you'd expect to find more than two sides to something - AT THE PENTAGON.

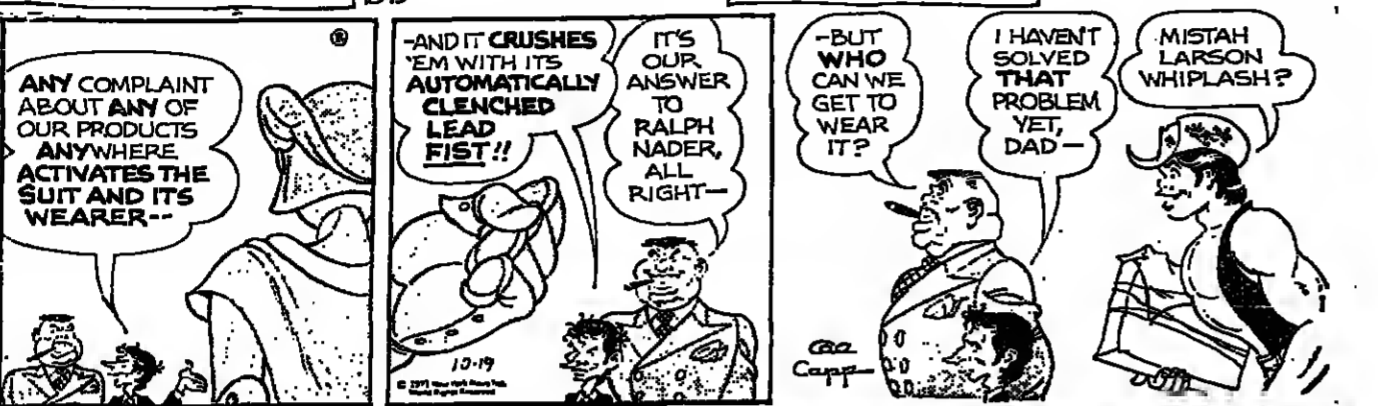

PEANUTS

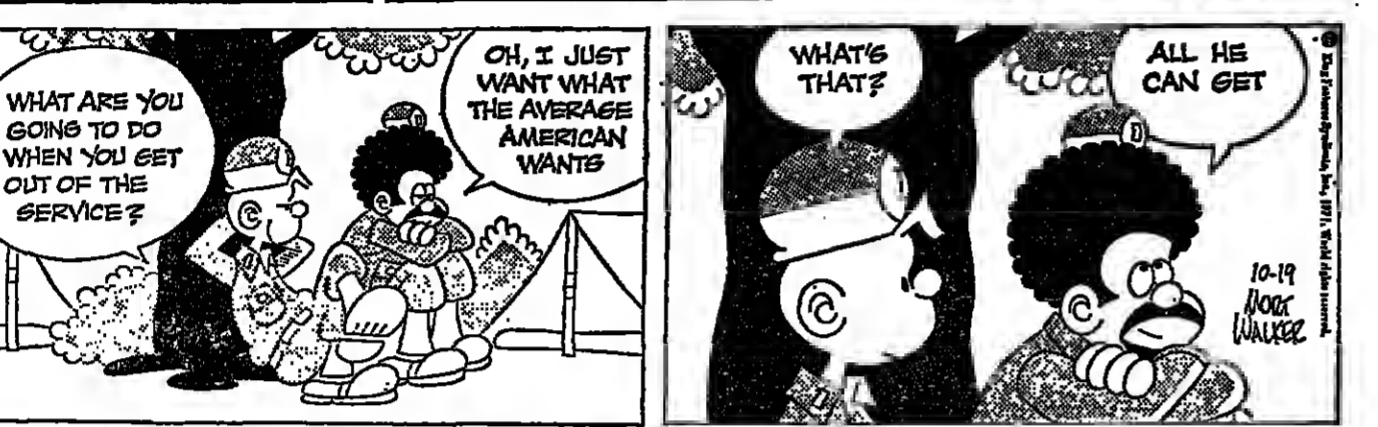

B.C.

LILABNER

BETLEBAILEY

MISPEACH

BUZSAWYER

WIZARD of ID

REX MORGAN M.D.

POOD

RIP KIRBY

Handwritten text in Arabic script at the bottom left corner.

Minnesota Tops Packers

Defense of Vikings Sets Up 3 Scores

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 18 (UPI)—Minnesota's defense set up three Gary Johnson passes yesterday...

Cleveland's Bob Scott dashed four yards with 39 seconds left for his third touchdown...

Denver's defense withstood a second-half San Diego rally and the Broncos posted their first victory of the season...

Darryl Lamonica, who set out the first two quarters, threw two touchdowns passes and rallied Oakland from a 10-point deficit...

Oct. 18 (UPI)—Detroit Lions will take Atlanta Falcons this week on film in the Le Triomphe in the Football League's week.

Oct. 18 (UPI)—New York and his was the 300th of his hockey career.

Oct. 18 (UPI)—The victory over California, the first since 1957, was the first since 1957.

Oct. 18 (UPI)—The victory over California, the first since 1957, was the first since 1957.

HIGH-FLYING PIRATES—Pirate pitcher Steve Blass jumps for joy as his catcher, Manny Sanguillen, raises his arms in victory after Pittsburgh won the World Series.

RED SMITH God in a Dilemma

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18.—Nine-thirty mass was about to start in St. Vincent's Church yesterday when the pastor, a plump, bald man, spotted Nestor Chylak in an aisle seat.

ing for the Pirates. So I'll just say this mass is for the birds. Put in a dilemma like that, God took the only possible way out.

upper deck were Steve's wife Karen Louise, his father, his next-door neighbor in Falls Village, Conn., a friend who built the Orioles' home in his backyard, and his high school baseball coach.

Red Smith

NFL Standings

Table showing NFL Standings for the American Conference, Eastern Division, and Central Division.

NFL Standings

Table showing NFL Standings for the National Conference, Eastern Division, and Central Division.

Fischer Defeats Petrosian To Lead in Chess by 1 Point

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 18 (AP)—Bobby Fischer of the United States won the sixth game today of his 12-game chess series with Tigran Petrosian of the Soviet Union after 61 moves.

The victory today gave Fischer 3 1/3 points in the tournament to Petrosian's 2 1/2 in the 12-match tournament to determine who will challenge champion Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union next spring.

Composite Scores of World Series Games

Table showing Composite Scores of World Series Games for Pittsburgh and Baltimore, including individual player statistics.

NHL Results

Table showing NHL Results for various teams including Montreal, Toronto, and Detroit.

NBA Results

Table showing NBA Results for various teams including Milwaukee, New York, and Detroit.

Roberto Walker Clemente: Portrait of a Superstar

By Murray Chass

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (UPI)—Jerry Hoffberger, the millionaire chairman of the board of the Baltimore Orioles, and Charlie Sands, the rarely used reserve catcher, both were in the clubhouse, but their thoughts in different words, but their meaning was the same.

Mr. Clemente, Hoffberger said to Mr. Clemente after the Pirates had won the World Series from the Orioles with a 2-1 victory in the seventh game, "You guys are great and you are the best of the ball club."

A few minutes later, forcing his way through the crushing crowd around the hero of the series, Sands grabbed his teammate's hand and, champagne and perspiration dripping from both of them, said "I want to shake the hand of the greatest ball player in the whole damn world."

Roberto Walker Clemente, a fleet-footed 37-year-old from Carolina, Puerto Rico, may not exactly fit Sands' description, but he certainly ranks among the greatest players, past and present.

His devastating display of hitting and fielding in these seven games against Baltimore—average of .318 and hits including two home runs, in 29 times at bat for a lustrous .414 average—was only typical of the right-fielder's performance in his 17 years in the majors.

He was named the outstanding player in the World Series and tied a record by hitting safely in all seven games.

Clemente, who also had at least one hit in each game of the 1960 series, is only the second player in history to accomplish the feat twice in a seven-game series. The other was outfielder Hank Bauer of the New York Yankees, who did it in 1956 and 1957.

Originally drafted by the Pirates from the Brooklyn organization, Clemente has a career batting average of .318 and has won four National League batting championships. None of these titles has come in the last three seasons, even though he has batted .346, .352 and .341.

Besides his batting feats, Clemente also is generally recognized, even today at his aging status, as the best defensive right fielder in the game.

"This guy plays like he's 15 years old," said Earl Weaver, the Orioles manager. "I can remember a few years ago I was managing in the Winter League in Puerto Rico and he took off the first month and a half of our season. Then in the first game he plays, he dives for a ball in the cinders, along the right field line, gets the ball, gets up and throws it right on the money to the plate."

Despite the sometimes incredible ability he has left, though, the ailment-plagued Clemente came close to quitting after the 1960 season.

Clemente Doesn't Quit "I hit only 291 and my back hurt all year," he related. "But my wife, she always knows how much I love this game, and she talked to me and say, 'never quit'."

In the ninth he got three big ones in order—Boog Powell, Frank Robinson and Merv Rettenmund. Blass leaped for joy and the Pirates' 21-year-old pitcher, Bruce Kison, raced gratefully for the clubhouse. He had a date to marry Anne Marie Orlando in Pittsburgh at 7:30 p.m.

when you are down. You have to give it another try. If you wait any longer after another try, I won't say another word."

So Clemente listened to the former Vera Christina Zabela, and now the father of Roberto Jr., Luis and Enrique, will play at least until he becomes the 11th player to reach the select 3,000-hit circle. He needs only 118 to get there.

Base hits and great catches, however, are not the only ingredients in the Pirate's life. He loves to work with children and has dreamed of building a "sports city" in Puerto Rico—and he constantly fights for more recognition for Latin players.

This man, who is so popular in Puerto Rico that many people would like to run for mayor of his hometown of Rio Piedras, frequently complains that such players as Juan Marichal and the Alou brothers (and himself) never receive as much attention—both from the public and the people who pay players to endorse products and make commercials—as American players, even black Americans.

Clemente further adds to his reputation as an angry player by complaining that people make fun of his frequent ailments, which he says are legitimate but which others question because he plays so well even when he says he's hurting.

In spite of all his complaints, however, the 5-foot-11-inch, 180-pound Puerto Rican says he hates on one and he wants no one to hate him.

Clemente further adds to his reputation as an angry player by complaining that people make fun of his frequent ailments, which he says are legitimate but which others question because he plays so well even when he says he's hurting.

Clemente further adds to his reputation as an angry player by complaining that people make fun of his frequent ailments, which he says are legitimate but which others question because he plays so well even when he says he's hurting.

Clemente further adds to his reputation as an angry player by complaining that people make fun of his frequent ailments, which he says are legitimate but which others question because he plays so well even when he says he's hurting.

Clemente further adds to his reputation as an angry player by complaining that people make fun of his frequent ailments, which he says are legitimate but which others question because he plays so well even when he says he's hurting.

Clemente further adds to his reputation as an angry player by complaining that people make fun of his frequent ailments, which he says are legitimate but which others question because he plays so well even when he says he's hurting.

Clemente further adds to his reputation as an angry player by complaining that people make fun of his frequent ailments, which he says are legitimate but which others question because he plays so well even when he says he's hurting.

Clemente further adds to his reputation as an angry player by complaining that people make fun of his frequent ailments, which he says are legitimate but which others question because he plays so well even when he says he's hurting.

Weaver Loses Series But Wins A Telephone Call From Nixon

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (UPI)—Earl Weaver finally received his call from the President yesterday.

The Orioles manager, who has complained that he has never heard from Mr. Nixon, was called to the phone in his clubhouse minutes after his team lost the seventh game of the World Series to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1. It was the President calling.

"This (the call) means much more, after losing, than at any other time," Weaver told the President.

"Mr. Nixon told me that he was proud of the way we played and that we would be a good representative of the United States in Japan." The Orioles leave shortly for a series of exhibitions in that country.

Several moments later, Secretary of State William Rogers, who threw out the first ball, entered the Baltimore clubhouse to congratulate the team.

"We need some help in Japan," he joked to Weaver. "All we got to spend is the loser's share (about $13,000) compared to $18,000 or more for each Pirate," said Weaver, who could still smile after losing his second World Series in three years.

"This defeat wasn't so tough to take because the Mets beat us four straight," said Weaver.

Revson Wins Can-Am Title

MONTEREY, Calif., Oct. 18 (UPI)—Coltishman Peter Revson was finally declared the winner of the Monterey-Castrol Can-Am yesterday after a two-hour mixup in which he was first disqualified. The victory clinched the Can-Am title for Revson.

Race officials originally awarded the victory to second-place finisher Jackie Stewart of Scotland after Revson was disqualified for ignoring a black flag on the last two laps. The black flag meant Revson was to come into the pits the next time around. He had a smoke engine, which officials feared might burst into flames.

But Revson later claimed he did not see the flag and, after a two-hour debate, race stewards reversed their decision, handed him back the $15,600 top prize and fined him $250 for missing the flag.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

A large section of classified advertisements containing various job openings, business opportunities, and personal notices. Includes sub-sections like 'SITUATIONS WANTED', 'BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES', and 'PERSONAL NOTICES'.

Etienne de Bigorre IS UN CADRE TYPICQUE... TO RESERVE... MUSEUMS... sycoat

Art Buchwald

TV Crime Is Up

WASHINGTON — The first crime figures for the fall television season are now in, and it has been confirmed that there were increases in all categories of crime in prime time from rape to involuntary homicide.

Buchwald

For example, there were twice as many murders committed on the three networks in September of this year than in all of 1971.

Aggravated assaults were up 175 percent, and robbery rose 320 percent, if you include the reruns of old James Cagney movies.

The report indicated that while gun crime was the chief weapon in television crime writers were introducing more sophisticated methods of doing away with victims.

A spokesman for the criminal division of television broadcasting said, "It is true that there has been an upsurge of crime on TV, compared to last year, but I would like to point out that despite the increase, every crime committed on one of our shows has been solved in 90 minutes or less."

The spokesman was asked why most of the crimes this year were solved by private investigators and not by the police.

"The reason for this is that the private eye, as we like to call him, has more flexibility than a city detective. A private eye doesn't have to worry about such things as applying for a search warrant, using brutality on a suspect, lying to the police, or making out with the wife of the victim."

"The recent Supreme Court rulings have made it impossible for us to use the city police in our shows other than in supporting roles or for comic relief."

"Why do the police in all TV crime shows arrive on the scene of the crime five minutes after the private detectives?"

"We have found from experience that if the police arrive late, it gives the private eye an opportunity to find the needed evidence that will lead him to the killer. If the police arrived at the same time as the private eye, they would find the evidence first, and then you would have to show it."

A reporter asked the spokesman if he was concerned that there is more violence on television than ever before.

"We're always concerned with violence, and we try not to overdo it. But at the same time there are just so many ways you can kill somebody, and the more imaginative the crime, the more the public will respond. The one thing that has all the criminals on TV worried is that they will become predictable."

"Cao we expect a new TV crime wave in 1972?" a reporter asked.

"It's too early to say. Perhaps when the ratings are in, we'll know how much crime the public will stand. I personally predict there will probably be fewer family murders, and we may have more crazed killers in '72."

"Why more crazed killers?"

"The TV writers are running out of plots. When you have a crazed killer, you don't need any motivation for his crime. He does it because he's crazy. You can't imagine how that simplifies a story line."

"What happens if the crime shows don't get high ratings?"

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The Eisenhower Theater opens tonight to give the John F. Kennedy Center its third major hall.

President and Mrs. Nixon have announced they will attend the opening play, Ibsen's "A Doll's House."

Due to share the presidential box are Mr. and Mrs. John Eisenhower and their daughter-in-law, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, daughter of the first family.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

The theater is named for the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Ahlens, Kansas.

But Dahomey's President Only Wanted Rice

By Hugh A. Mulligan

TEHERAN, Oct. 18 (AP)—Long after midnight when the last of the emperors and kings and presidents had left the imperial banquet, host master-banquet Max Blouet popped a bottle of Dom Perignon rose 1957 and passed it around the kitchen.

"We knew then we had won the battle," said Mr. Blouet as he relished his greatest triumph. "For five minutes eight of the most famous chefs ever assembled in one place just on/ed (sighed) with relief. Never had there been such an imperial banquet under such conditions—under a tent in the desert. I felt like the old man and the sea."

"All the way back in the bus we sang Algerian and French rebel songs to amuse the security guards at the roadblocks who had cost us so many precious hours."

159 Cooks

Mr. Blouet, who created the George V in Paris and for years ran the Hotel de Paris in Monte Carlo, came out of retirement at the request of the shah of Iran to be field marshal for the blast of the century.

Along with a staff of 159 cooks, bakers, barmen and waiters he flew in from Paris 10 days in advance with 18 tons of food and 12 tons of beverages only to find on the night of the banquet that no corkscrews had arrived for the wines shipped in many months before.

"Fortunately every Frenchman has one on his knife, so a disaster was averted," said Mr. Blouet, knocking back a Napoleon brandy in a toast to "the biggest three days in my life."

Like a general reviewing his toughest campaign, Mr. Blouet savored every

Like a general reviewing his toughest campaign, Max Blouet savored every culinary skirmish on the great plain of Persepolis.

"Room service was the biggest headache. Some of those sheikhs and sultans ordered a breakfast like you never saw: caviar omelets, breakfasts I have never seen."

Mr. Blouet shook his head in disbelief.

"I'd rather serve a banquet for a thousand people than try to run room service for that same complex 24 hours a day. The kitchens were located 500 meters away (a quarter of a mile). We had 20 little electric buggies when we could have used a fleet of trucks."

The buggy count dropped to 19 when Crown Prince Reza, the shah's 10-year-old son, commandeered one for a toy.

To everyone's surprise the room service phone rang in the kitchen just a few minutes before the great banquet got underway in the imperial dining tent. Mr. Blouet took the call himself. A frail voice identifying itself as the president of Dahomey ordered some rice.

"Rice?" Mr. Blouet asked in astonishment. "But you are about to go to the banquet."

"I don't want a banquet, I just want some rice."

"Look," Mr. Blouet found himself issuing orders to a president. "Go to the banquet; I will see that you get some rice."

Mr. Blouet stood tall in a towering rage when the Iranian secret police, who were underfoot everywhere in the kitchen, wanted to tear apart the magnificent birthday cake celebrating the 2,500th anniversary of the founding of the Persian empire.

"They even put the geiger counters on the ice cubes, which you could look through," he snorted. "We were housed 30 miles away at the agricultural college and were stopped seven times in the last three miles by roadblocks."

When you consider that the sauce Nantua for the mousses d'ecreusses took three days to prepare, I weep for the time lost."

Chefs

To execute the menus prepared by his old friend Louis Vaudouh back at Maxim's in Paris, Mr. Blouet had a staff that included the top chefs from the Hotel de Paris in Monte Carlo, the Palace Hotel in Saint-Moritz, the French Lina, Baumaniere, the famous restaurant in Provence, both the present and the retired chef of Maxim's and the shah of Iran's personal chef.

His matre d'hotel was Kauch, a Swiss, his head barmen was Dante Frazzini, an Italian, and his headwaiter was Pierre Gachet, a Maxim's executive. The other cooks and all the waiters, mostly Swiss, French and Italian, were flown in from Monte Carlo and St. Moritz, where it was between seasons.

"October was a lucky time for the shah to have his party," Mr. Blouet exulted. "The waiters were available and we managed to fly in the last raspberries of the season from Paris for the glazed figs and raspberries—a Maxim's special terrific—but you can't freeze raspberries, so it was touch and go."

Out of deference to the 89 assembled heads of state, Mr. Blouet went around sampling the food with a spoon instead of dipping a finger in here and there, after the French manner. "I didn't want to frighten anyone."

Range

Mr. Blouet stood tall in a towering rage when the Iranian secret police, who were underfoot everywhere in the kitchen, wanted to tear apart the magnificent birthday cake celebrating the 2,500th anniversary of the founding of the Persian empire.

"They even put the geiger counters on the ice cubes, which you could look through," he snorted. "We were housed 30 miles away at the agricultural college and were stopped seven times in the last three miles by roadblocks."

When you consider that the sauce Nantua for the mousses d'ecreusses took three days to prepare, I weep for the time lost."

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

TO PLACE A CLASSIFIED AD QUICKLY CONTACT OUR OFFICE IN YOUR COUNTRY. SERVICES: BRUSSELS - WINGS TEMPORARY EMPLOYMENT. ENGLISH-FRENCH TRANSLATIONS. EDUCATION: FRENCH-ENGLISH lessons by fluent experienced lady. FOR SALE & WANTED: FOR SALE second hand of 100 equipment. HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL: CHEAP BUT UTTERLY reliable flights. REAL ESTATE TO LET, SHARE, EXCHANGE: PARIS AND SUBURBS. PERSONALS: VAL, happy 37 at 32. Love from 73 at 12.

EDUCATION: FRENCH-ENGLISH lessons by fluent experienced lady. FOR SALE & WANTED: FOR SALE second hand of 100 equipment. ANTIQUES: HONORE DAUMIER drawings and sketches. ANIMALS: FERGIE'S PUPPIES, all breeds with export papers. DIAMONDS: BUY DIAMONDS AT BELOW WHOLESALE PRICES. HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL: CHEAP BUT UTTERLY reliable flights. OFFICE SERVICES: Swiss Business Address Your Office Abroad Fully Equipped at Your Fingertips in Switzerland. BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES: SWISS MANUFACTURER seeks partner to exploit in the U.S.A. NEW YORK $89: NET FLIGHTS every other day. FOR SALE & WANTED: ANVROY CAN AFFORD KENTING AT OUR PRICES.

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL: CHEAP BUT UTTERLY reliable flights. REAL ESTATE TO LET, SHARE, EXCHANGE: PARIS AND SUBURBS. BUSINESS ADVISORY SERVICES: GENEVA. REAL ESTATE TO LET, SHARE, EXCHANGE: PARIS AND SUBURBS. OFFICE SERVICES: Swiss Business Address Your Office Abroad Fully Equipped at Your Fingertips in Switzerland. BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES: SWISS MANUFACTURER seeks partner to exploit in the U.S.A. ARTIST'S ATELIER: 45 sqm. kitchen, bath, w.c., soundproof building.

REAL ESTATE TO LET, SHARE, EXCHANGE: PARIS AND SUBURBS. REAL ESTATE WANTED: PARIS ONLY. REAL ESTATE FOR SALE: PARIS AND SUBURBS. SPAIN, MARBELLA: EXTRAORDINARY ESTATE. SWITZERLAND: APARTMENTS & DOUBLE CHATEAUX. PERSONALS: VAL, happy 37 at 32. Love from 73 at 12.

REAL ESTATE TO LET, SHARE, EXCHANGE: PARIS AND SUBURBS. REAL ESTATE WANTED: PARIS ONLY. REAL ESTATE FOR SALE: PARIS AND SUBURBS. SPAIN, MARBELLA: EXTRAORDINARY ESTATE. SWITZERLAND: APARTMENTS & DOUBLE CHATEAUX. PERSONALS: VAL, happy 37 at 32. Love from 73 at 12.

You can buy this French car for a very attractive price and take it home. It's also an American car. Call Simca Chrysler-France 225.37.30. Showroom 136 avenue des Champs-Elysees Paris F France 225 37 30. Location Export Sales Division 54 rue du Chemin-Vert 92 Boulogne, France 825 58 90.